

Message Report

Generated: 12/30/2024 at 07:16 PM by Robert Moyer

Number of messages: 287

Timezone: America/Los_Angeles

Parents: Robert Moyer, Christine Moyer

Child(ren): Adrian Moyer, Max Moyer

Third Party:

OurFamilyWizard
ourfamilywizard.com
info@ourfamilywizard.com
(866) 755-9991

Message 1 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 01:02 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM)
Subject: Re: Condo Sale

Thanks Christine. Much appreciated.

On 11/30/2024 at 03:09 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 03:11 PM)
Subject: Re: Condo Sale

Ok. I'll propose adjusted language in the document and let Jeff know.

On 11/30/2024 at 11:42 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 03:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Condo Sale

I think I'm happy with the legwork you did with Jeff.

Want to just bait till the same list window for the house? We can decide then if we like?

On 11/30/2024 at 11:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 11:41 AM)
Subject: Re: Condo Sale

Thoughts on this. It will need to be incorporated into doc your lawyer sent to us by beginning of this week.

On 11/26/2024 at 11:38 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/26/2024 at 11:38 AM)
Subject: Condo Sale

Questions:

Is Jan 15th listing a hard list date or open to list Spring (Feb/March/April) based on Jeff recommendation.

Home/Condo Sale agreement - Suggest add language "List by Jan 15th, or based on list date recommended by agent"

Jeff Conversation Summary

Has not seen big change or reduction in rates post election.
Current listings in Kirkland after election, has not seen much activity.
Does not anticipate much movement in activity or rates between now and end of year.
But could move if priced right.
List by date Jan 15 - could sit for a few months if beginning of year.
Activity picks up mid Feb/March - there is stigma if sits too long.
Recommend wait to list Feb/March/April

Tenant - What options do we want to give him?
He is on month to month, would need to give him a 30 day notice.

Jeff offered to approach the tenant to discuss options and what he wants. Should time discussion appropriately so tenant does not move too early if wants to leave.
Stay until it sells?
Don't expect too many people
Online appointment/need to coordinate
Stay and perhaps investor? (Mature man/stable job)
Vacate?
99% of listings for sale, are offering to pay the buyers commission 2.5% to 3%.
Buyers' agent - need to have buyers' agreement - this could include buyer pays them 3%.
Buyers agent may insist on difference and could be negotiating point for seller to pay the difference, or buyer will pay.

Message 2 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)
Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 3 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 4 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 5 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 6 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 7 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 8 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Sure. And I assure you that I will work on this prior to mediation. I want us to have a crack at it. I'm not trying to surprise you, I'm trying to work with you.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 9 of 287

Sent: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Awesome! Thanks for the teamwork.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 10 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 08:19 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:29 AM)
Subject: Monthly transfer

I did not see that transferee into my account yet.

Are you able to automate on your end to be deposited in 1st each month.

Thank you

Message 11 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 09:30 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:35 AM)
Subject: Re: Monthly transfer

My apologies. I thought it was set up. It will be there in just a moment. I'll circle back when it done.

On 12/02/2024 at 08:19 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:29 AM)
Subject: Monthly transfer

I did not see that transferee into my account yet.

Are you able to automate on your end to be deposited in 1st each month.

Thank you

Message 12 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 09:41 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 12:33 PM)
Subject: Re: Monthly transfer
Attachments: Auto_Pay.jpg (58 KB)
Dec.jpg (55 KB)

I made the correction to the Auto-Pay. Please let me know if you see any issues with this.

On 12/02/2024 at 09:30 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:35 AM)
Subject: Re: Monthly transfer

My apologies. I thought it was set up. It will be there in just a moment. I'll circle back when it done.

On 12/02/2024 at 08:19 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:29 AM)
Subject: Monthly transfer

I did not see that transferee into my account yet.

Are you able to automate on your end to be deposited in 1st each month.

Thank you

Message 13 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 12:34 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 12:37 PM)
Subject: Re: Monthly transfer

Great. I see it is in process on my end.

On 12/02/2024 at 09:41 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 12:33 PM)
Subject: Re: Monthly transfer
Attachments: Auto_Pay.jpg (58 KB)
Dec.jpg (55 KB)

I made the correction to the Auto-Pay. Please let me know if you see any issues with this.

On 12/02/2024 at 09:30 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:35 AM)
Subject: Re: Monthly transfer

My apologies. I thought it was set up. It will be there in just a moment. I'll circle back when it done.

On 12/02/2024 at 08:19 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 09:29 AM)
Subject: Monthly transfer

I did not see that transferee into my account yet.

Are you able to automate on your end to be deposited in 1st each month.

Thank you

Message 14 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 01:11 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 01:11 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Safeco called me back and I spoke to Alex.

509 608 4742

My take away.

As you are not at the Kirkland residence, you would need to call and request separate policy for your car at existing residence. I can't do it as I am still in the Kirkland residence.

I would remain on existing policy, but my rate would adjust after you drop off.

We would then need to figure split payment of earthquake or I guess we could request that be a separate policy too and figure out payment.

Autopayment is on hold until Dec 10th as a courtesy. Lmk thoughts.

On 11/29/2024 at 12:19 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 12:19 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

SafeCo is billed to the Jt Account - with your portion being larger than mine. The breakdown for the amount has been shared on multiple occasions.

All attempts and requests for reimbursement to the jt account for your larger share, as far back at Aug 16, have been ignored. My only solution now is to formally split it.

On 11/29/2024 at 11:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 12:15 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Why would we do this before we are divorced? Are you just intentionally trying to cost us more? I don't get you. First I offer anyway possible not to move the boys just for their own good and you won't let me keep you in the house even when you benefit, you have to make a big deal out of us being divorce to SAAS because that is in their best interest somehow, and now this. I assume you wanna file separately instead of his married too?

On 11/29/2024 at 11:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 11:31 AM)

Subject: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

I called SafeCo to understand how to split our car insurance policies.

It was set up for auto deduct on Monday, Dec 2 from jt bank account - they have paused until Dec 12th, so give us time to figure it out. I confirmed this is a courtesy and will not impact the current coverage.

We will need to split and get own policies for each car, as single driver, so our rates will change.

Moving forward, you are of course free to choose whoever you would like for car insurance.

The sales office is closed today but will be calling me tomorrow to set up my separate account for the Subaru.

Monthly earthquake insurance is also included in jt payment, so we need to figure out how to split/pay moving forward.

Message 15 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 01:13 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 02:31 PM)

Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Longer discussion. But acknowledging I see this.

Let's pay Dec 10th and let me know what my half is.

On 12/02/2024 at 01:11 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 01:11 PM)

Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Safeco called me back and I spoke to Alex.

509 608 4742

My take away.

As you are not at the Kirkland residence, you would need to call and request separate policy for your car at existing residence. I can't do it as I am still in the Kirkland residence.

I would remain on existing policy, but my rate would adjust after you drop off.

We would then need to figure split payment of earthquake or I guess we could request that be a separate policy too and figure out payment.

Autopayment is on hold until Dec 10th as a courtesy. Lmk thoughts.

On 11/29/2024 at 12:19 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 12:19 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

SafeCo is billed to the Jt Account - with your portion being larger than mine. The breakdown for the amount has been shared on multiple occasions.

All attempts and requests for reimbursement to the jt account for your larger share, as far back at Aug 16, have been ignored. My only solution now is to formally split it.

On 11/29/2024 at 11:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 12:15 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Why would we do this before we are divorced? Are you just intentionally trying to cost us more? I don't get you. First I offer anyway possible not to move the boys just for their own good and you won't let me keep you in the house even when you benefit, you have to make a big deal out of us being divorce to SAAS because that is in their best interest somehow, and now this. I assume you wanna file separately instead of his married too?

On 11/29/2024 at 11:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 11:31 AM)
Subject: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

I called SafeCo to understand how to split our car insurance policies.

It was set up for auto deduct on Monday, Dec 2 from jt bank account - they have paused until Dec 12th, so give us time to figure it out. I confirmed this is a courtesy and will not impact the current coverage.

We will need to split and get own policies for each car, as single driver, so our rates will change.

Moving forward, you are of course free to choose whoever you would like for car insurance.

The sales office is closed today but will be calling me tomorrow to set up my separate account for the Subaru.

Monthly earthquake insurance is also included in jt payment, so we need to figure out how to split/pay moving forward.

Message 16 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 02:47 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 02:48 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

I'm ok doing that for now assuming there is no dispute about amounts or it just gets messy staying in this state.

I left message for Alex to have autopayment pull from jt account on Dec 10.

See Safeco tab in the shared workbook which breaks it down. Yours is 532, mine is 225. We should both deposit that in the joint account.

You had requested the SafeCo breakdown in an email sent by your lawyers during the last mediation.

Can you confirm no further questions or issues on this. If you are good, I'll transfer my share into BofA.

In the email sent during mediation, besides SafeCo breakdown, you had also requested I deposit Sirius charge back in for $23, which I did, Confirmation wa drivers license charge was Max's, it was, proof Jennifer deposit, this was shared, back up for Rowland photography (this was kids school pics, and I had sent you link to download when it was purchased, check 3986, 60.55 for back flow assembly test, check 3987, this was carpet cleaning prior to your home inspector. I printed both checks into "BankofAmerica questions" tab. I had asked previously if any concerns/questions, you said no but let me know if anything further.

On 12/02/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 02:31 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Longer discussion. But acknowledging I see this.

Let's pay Dec 10th and let me know what my half is.

On 12/02/2024 at 01:11 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 01:11 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Safeco called me back and I spoke to Alex.

509 608 4742

My take away.

As you are not at the Kirkland residence, you would need to call and request separate policy for your car at existing residence. I can't do it as I am still in the Kirkland residence.

I would remain on existing policy, but my rate would adjust after you drop off.

We would then need to figure split payment of earthquake or I guess we could request that be a separate policy too and figure out payment.

Autopayment is on hold until Dec 10th as a courtesy. Lmk thoughts.

On 11/29/2024 at 12:19 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 12:19 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

SafeCo is billed to the Jt Account - with your portion being larger than mine. The breakdown for the amount has been shared on multiple occasions.

All attempts and requests for reimbursement to the jt account for your larger share, as far back at Aug 16, have been ignored. My only solution now is to formally split it.

On 11/29/2024 at 11:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 12:15 PM)
Subject: Re: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

Why would we do this before we are divorced? Are you just intentionally trying to cost us more? I don't get you. First I offer anyway possible not to move the boys just for their own good and you won't let me keep you in the house even when you benefit, you have to make a big deal out of us being divorce to SAAS because that is in their best interest somehow, and now this. I assume you wanna file separately instead of his married too?

On 11/29/2024 at 11:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/29/2024 at 11:31 AM)

Subject: SafeCo Car Insurance/Split

I called SafeCo to understand how to split our car insurance policies.

It was set up for auto deduct on Monday, Dec 2 from jt bank account - they have paused until Dec 12th, so give us time to figure it out. I confirmed this is a courtesy and will not impact the current coverage.

We will need to split and get own policies for each car, as single driver, so our rates will change.

Moving forward, you are of course free to choose whoever you would like for car insurance.

The sales office is closed today but will be calling me tomorrow to set up my separate account for the Subaru.

Monthly earthquake insurance is also included in jt payment, so we need to figure out how to split/pay moving forward.

Message 17 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 02:59 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)

Subject: House repairs/ tree/yard

Greg provided bill for fixing a hole in the wall for 180. I sent it to you.

To approve:

Greg is looking into hinges to fix sauna door that snapped over the summer. This can wait closer when we get house ready for sale if you prefer.

Kelly/Tom have asked to remove the tree outside our front yard and they will pay. We had it trimmed before but it's has grown further up and wider. Initially they asked because it was blocking their view but upon inspection roots are breaking up driveway which technically we would need to fix if damage gets too bad. We might need to note in sale disclosures if we don't take care of it now. Kelly has noted it already.

Moss/weed removal for yard/driveway etc by gardener and/or Greg. Greg power washed moss last time along driveway. New gardener used by Scott (Quy disappeared) can help with weed removal. This can wait for house sale too.

Message 18 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 03:06 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:54 PM)

Subject: Hole in wall

Hole was in Max's room. I found it when I moved a bulletin board that had been leaning against the wall for sometime.

Message 19 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 03:15 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)
Subject: SAAS Tuition December

FYI - I just paid my 50% for Dec in Veracross - which was 5,458.22.

When you log in, you will see the remaining invoice balance which will be your portion.

Thank you.

Message 20 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:55 PM)
Subject: Re: Hole in wall

lol... did he punch it or stick something through it?

On 12/02/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:54 PM)
Subject: Hole in wall

Hole was in Max's room. I found it when I moved a bulletin board that had been leaning against the wall for sometime.

Message 21 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 03:57 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:55 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS Tuition December

Wait- your 50% was $5,458.22?

Their tuition is 11k a month now?

On 12/02/2024 at 03:15 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)
Subject: SAAS Tuition December

FYI - I just paid my 50% for Dec in Veracross - which was 5,458.22.

When you log in, you will see the remaining invoice balance which will be your portion.

Thank you.

Message 22 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 04:05 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:55 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS Tuition December
Attachments: SAAS.jpg (67 KB)

On 12/02/2024 at 03:57 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:55 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS Tuition December

Wait- your 50% was $5,458.22?

Their tuition is 11k a month now?

On 12/02/2024 at 03:15 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)
Subject: SAAS Tuition December

FYI - I just paid my 50% for Dec in Veracross - which was 5,458.22.

When you log in, you will see the remaining invoice balance which will be your portion.

Thank you.

Message 23 of 287

Sent: 12/02/2024 at 05:56 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:56 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS Tuition December

Thank you. Looks like we are set for Dec.

On 12/02/2024 at 04:05 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:55 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS Tuition December
Attachments: SAAS.jpg (67 KB)

On 12/02/2024 at 03:57 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 05:55 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS Tuition December

Wait- your 50% was $5,458.22?

Their tuition is 11k a month now?

On 12/02/2024 at 03:15 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)

Subject: SAAS Tuition December

FYI - I just paid my 50% for Dec in Veracross - which was 5,458.22.

When you log in, you will see the remaining invoice balance which will be your portion.

Thank you.

Message 24 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 10:12 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Attachments: Bills_or_Accusations.jpg (165 KB)

I'm working on this today now that Lisa Summers is back, But I'll be honest it's very difficult to understand exactly what's going on here. We have discussions in email and then you crossover to Ofw and I think I'm expected to understand the join in your mind.

When I go into the spreadsheet, I see an October page but I also see pages that frankly feel borderline caustic and confrontational. Even the language used in those tabs feels combative. I'm letting you know that this situation is very difficult to sort out.

I am trying to work with you, but it feels like an evidence gathering exercise in "gotcha accounting" sometimes. Just giving you my feedback as I suggested so we can do this in a constructive way.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Sure. And I assure you that I will work on this prior to mediation. I want us to have a crack at it. I'm not trying to surprise you, I'm trying to work with you.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 25 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 10:55 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 11:18 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

I can simplify.

Oct 31st. Current total is 2,417. There could be more. Seattle children's still shows amounts pending insurance.

That note was because you had said no to paying for your portion of medical and then pushed back on other expenses I had included.

Just let me know if you still have that interpretation.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:12 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Attachments: Bills_or_Accusations.jpg (165 KB)

I'm working on this today now that Lisa Summers is back, But I'll be honest it's very difficult to understand exactly what's going on here. We have discussions in email and then you crossover to Ofw and I think I'm expected to understand the join in your mind.

When I go into the spreadsheet, I see an October page but I also see pages that frankly feel borderline caustic and confrontational. Even the language used in those tabs feels combative. I'm letting you know that this situation is very difficult to sort out.

I am trying to work with you, but it feels like an evidence gathering exercise in "gotcha accounting" sometimes. Just giving you my feedback as I suggested so we can do this in a constructive way.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Sure. And I assure you that I will work on this prior to mediation. I want us to have a crack at it. I'm not trying to surprise you, I'm trying to work with you.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)
Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 26 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 03:39 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 03:57 PM)
Subject: Max passport / fees

Submitted a renewal application for Max's US passport today. As he is 16, he only needed one parent to sign / be present.

I could only pay with a check so I had to write against the jt Bank of America account. I'm going to transfer 250 in there now to cover for when the checks are presented by the state department and King county in the next two weeks or so.

Asking that the balance not be drawn below this amount so they checks do not bounce.

I'm going to work on setting up my individual BofA account to allow me to write checks which currently it does not.

Message 27 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 04:01 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:14 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

Thanks! And sorry lots of information

Did I still have money I needed to take out? I think you took your out right?

I have no issue with the check and plan there I think. How much should I pull out and is that everything?

Feel free to use that account when we need it. That's why we kept it. But agree with your plans

On 12/03/2024 at 03:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 03:57 PM)

Subject: Max passport / fees

Submitted a renewal application for Max's US passport today. As he is 16, he only needed one parent to sign / be present.

I could only pay with a check so I had to write against the jt Bank of America account. I'm going to transfer 250 in there now to cover for when the checks are presented by the state department and King county in the next two weeks or so.

Asking that the balance not be drawn below this amount so they checks do not bounce.

I'm going to work on setting up my individual BofA account to allow me to write checks which currently it does not.

Message 28 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM)

Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

I thought I saw a response to this.

Anything above 250 would be yours. I reimbursed amounts that had debited that were mine. I see you still have some personal expenses that pulled from it recently including cell, rocket money and cares insurance.

As long as 250 remains in the account to cover the checks I am good.

On 12/03/2024 at 03:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 03:57 PM)

Subject: Max passport / fees

Submitted a renewal application for Max's US passport today. As he is 16, he only needed one parent to sign / be present.

I could only pay with a check so I had to write against the jt Bank of America account. I'm going to transfer 250 in there now to cover for when the checks are presented by the state department and King county in the next two weeks or so.

Asking that the balance not be drawn below this amount so they checks do not bounce.

I'm going to work on setting up my individual BofA account to allow me to write checks which currently it does not.

Message 29 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 04:55 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:55 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

Still don't understand.

Anything above $250 is my 48%?

On 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

I thought I saw a response to this.

Anything above 250 would be yours. I reimbursed amounts that had debited that were mine. I see you still have some personal expenses that pulled from it recently including cell, rocket money and cares insurance.

As long as 250 remains in the account to cover the checks I am good.

On 12/03/2024 at 03:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 03:57 PM)
Subject: Max passport / fees

Submitted a renewal application for Max's US passport today. As he is 16, he only needed one parent to sign / be present.

I could only pay with a check so I had to write against the jt Bank of America account. I'm going to transfer 250 in there now to cover for when the checks are presented by the state department and King county in the next two weeks or so.

Asking that the balance not be drawn below this amount so they checks do not bounce.

I'm going to work on setting up my individual BofA account to allow me to write checks which currently it does not.

Message 30 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 04:59 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/04/2024 at 01:46 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

It would be - You just had $110 for transmaerica pull from it, cell was $234 and rocket money 11 after I moved my 523 out.

So you pulled out 355 after I transferred out 523. I may have done my math wrong and should have been owed more.

On 12/03/2024 at 04:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:55 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

Still don't understand.

Anything above $250 is my 48%?

On 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM)

Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

I thought I saw a response to this.

Anything above 250 would be yours. I reimbursed amounts that had debited that were mine. I see you still have some personal expenses that pulled from it recently including cell, rocket money and cares insurance.

As long as 250 remains in the account to cover the checks I am good.

On 12/03/2024 at 03:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 03:57 PM)

Subject: Max passport / fees

Submitted a renewal application for Max's US passport today. As he is 16, he only needed one parent to sign / be present.

I could only pay with a check so I had to write against the jt Bank of America account. I'm going to transfer 250 in there now to cover for when the checks are presented by the state department and King county in the next two weeks or so.

Asking that the balance not be drawn below this amount so they checks do not bounce.

I'm going to work on setting up my individual BofA account to allow me to write checks which currently it does not.

Message 31 of 287

Sent: 12/03/2024 at 05:02 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/04/2024 at 01:46 PM)

Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

There is 650 in there now - less 250 is 400. This is after you pulled out 355 for personal expenses.

I transferred 523 out.

On 12/03/2024 at 04:59 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/04/2024 at 01:46 PM)

Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

It would be - You just had $110 for transmaerica pull from it, cell was $234 and rocket money 11 after I moved my 523 out.

So you pulled out 355 after I transferred out 523. I may have done my math wrong and should have been owed more.

On 12/03/2024 at 04:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:55 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

Still don't understand.

Anything above $250 is my 48%?

On 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 04:54 PM)
Subject: Re: Max passport / fees

I thought I saw a response to this.

Anything above 250 would be yours. I reimbursed amounts that had debited that were mine. I see you still have some personal expenses that pulled from it recently including cell, rocket money and cares insurance.

As long as 250 remains in the account to cover the checks I am good.

On 12/03/2024 at 03:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 03:57 PM)
Subject: Max passport / fees

Submitted a renewal application for Max's US passport today. As he is 16, he only needed one parent to sign / be present.

I could only pay with a check so I had to write against the jt Bank of America account. I'm going to transfer 250 in there now to cover for when the checks are presented by the state department and King county in the next two weeks or so.

Asking that the balance not be drawn below this amount so they checks do not bounce.

I'm going to work on setting up my individual BofA account to allow me to write checks which currently it does not.

Message 32 of 287

Sent: 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 33 of 287

Sent: 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes

-No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 34 of 287

Sent: 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 35 of 287

Sent: 12/06/2024 at 03:10 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 03:20 PM)
Subject: Adrian

Going to take it easy tonight and sit out practice

I'll keep you updated .

Message 36 of 287

Sent: 12/06/2024 at 06:31 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Confirmed with Alan. We can shift and start on Thursday as well.

On 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 37 of 287

Sent: 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 38 of 287

Sent: 12/07/2024 at 11:05 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Let me know if you don't plan to respond to these as we normally do and I need to go through Lisa.

On 12/06/2024 at 06:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Confirmed with Alan. We can shift and start on Thursday as well.

On 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 39 of 287

Sent: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Ok. Confirmed for next Saturday and this Thursday

On 12/07/2024 at 11:05 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Let me know if you don't plan to respond to these as we normally do and I need to go through Lisa.

On 12/06/2024 at 06:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Confirmed with Alan. We can shift and start on Thursday as well.

On 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 40 of 287

Sent: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 41 of 287

Sent: 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever

- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 42 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 43 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that.

And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 44 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:
- Max (16):
- Full autonomy over relationship
 - Direct communication with both parents
 - Ability to modify contact based on preferences
 - No supervision requirements
 - No phase requirements
 - Immediate implementation of his choices
- Adrian (12):
- No autonomy until age 18
 - Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
 - Must follow rigid phase system
 - Maximum contact permanently reduced

- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother

- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 45 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 03:47 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM)
Subject: Adrian basketball tonight

He wants to take it easy so we discussed sitting practice out tonight.

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions

- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 47 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids.”

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 48 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 04:50 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I tried to call for the first time in four months because this is so important to his future.

But there is no way to contact you if you refuse to answer here, on email, by OFW call.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship

- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact

- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 49 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 50 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 05:00 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:05 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am asking to talk tonight before it goes to court. That is why it has to be tonight. If one call in four months (a rate of 3 a year) is too much for something of this magnitude. Then there will never be anything that meets the bar.

If you don't let me chat, you see blame, because that is what you are making up. I am not blaming you. I am asking for a peaceful and constructive discussion. May we please take a minute to even check if it's worth a longer conversation.

Just putting our heads in the sand won't help him.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 05:06 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:08 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Please stop. It was signed on Thursday.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:05 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am asking to talk tonight before it goes to court. That is why it has to be tonight. If one call in four months (a rate of 3 a year) is too much for something of this magnitude. Then there will never be anything that meets the bar.

If you don't let me chat, you see blame, because that is what you are making up. I am not blaming you. I am asking for a peaceful and constructive discussion. May we please take a minute to even check if
It's worth a longer conversation.

Just putting our heads in the sand won't help him.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions

- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 52 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 05:13 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We agree on the fact that it was signed. I was told to review before it goes to court. That is why I want to discuss in a peaceful and constructive way.

My ears are open to any suggestions . I'm only advocating for equality between our children. That's all- equal treatment between two brothers.

I hope you will please consider equality over inequity.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:08 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Please stop. It was signed on Thursday.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:05 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am asking to talk tonight before it goes to court. That is why it has to be tonight. If one call in four months (a rate of 3 a year) is too much for something of this magnitude. Then there will never be anything that meets the bar.

If you don't let me chat, you see blame, because that is what you are making up. I am not blaming you. I am asking for a peaceful and constructive discussion. May we please take a minute to even check if it's worth a longer conversation.

Just putting our heads in the sand won't help him.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions

- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 53 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 05:48 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Allright. I can't fight any harder for mini-me at this point if you won't entertain the option of equality between, he and Max. Legally you can do whatever you want to him.

I just noted earlier you had said that "Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me."

So given your statement, and the disparity of how your parent each of them, I thought it was worth a try. You have made it clear- Max has free will. AD and his voice will be silent.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We agree on the fact that it was signed. I was told to review before it goes to court. That is why I want to discuss in a peaceful and constructive way.

My ears are open to any suggestions . I'm only advocating for equality between our children. That's all- equal treatment between two brothers.

I hope you will please consider equality over inequity.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:08 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Please stop. It was signed on Thursday.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:05 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am asking to talk tonight before it goes to court. That is why it has to be tonight. If one call in four months (a rate of 3 a year) is too much for something of this magnitude. Then there will never be anything that meets the bar.

If you don't let me chat , you see blame, because that is what you are making up. I am not blaming you. I am asking for a peaceful and constructive discussion. May we please take a minute to even check if
It's worth a longer conversation.

Just putting our heads in the sand won't help him.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system

- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over.

He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 54 of 287

Sent: 12/08/2024 at 06:00 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: Calls

Can you unblock them? I am not calling you. I have not called in four months. It would be good to have that capability in case of emergency or something urgent.

I was just unclear if it was working properly or not because we had not done it in so long. And the fact that you simply would not answer made me think it was not working.

That said, if they were working and you were just ignoring them, I guess it's a moot point. Just let me know. I like it in case there is every something really important.

Thanks!

Message 55 of 287

Sent: 12/09/2024 at 11:13 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: It has not been entered into court

. Well played.

Message 56 of 287

Sent: 12/09/2024 at 12:28 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:47 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

His voice has not been silent. You have ignored it and blamed on me.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Allright. I can't fight any harder for mini-me at this point if you won't entertain the option of equality between, he and Max. Legally you can do whatever you want to him.

I just noted earlier you had said that "Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me."

So given your statement, and the disparity of how your parent each of them, I thought it was worth a try. You have made it clear- Max has free will. AD and his voice will be silent.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We agree on the fact that it was signed. I was told to review before it goes to court. That is why I want to discuss in a peaceful and constructive way.

My ears are open to any suggestions . I'm only advocating for equality between our children. That's all- equal treatment between two brothers.

I hope you will please consider equality over inequity.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:08 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Please stop. It was signed on Thursday.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:05 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am asking to talk tonight before it goes to court. That is why it has to be tonight. If one call in four months (a rate of 3 a year) is too much for something of this magnitude. Then there will never be anything that meets the bar.

If you don't let me chat, you see blame, because that is what you are making up. I am not blaming you. I am asking for a peaceful and constructive discussion. May we please take a minute to even check if It's worth a longer conversation.

Just putting our heads in the sand won't help him.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max

- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality
- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions

- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever
- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 57 of 287

Sent: 12/09/2024 at 12:29 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:54 PM)
Subject: Re: It has not been entered into court

This is abusive.

Your lawyer sent over docs so unsure what game you are playing.

On 12/09/2024 at 11:13 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: It has not been entered into court

. Well played.

Message 58 of 287

Sent: 12/09/2024 at 12:53 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

If you think you have zero influence on his thoughts I disagree given the history. But I don't want to fight. You have made it impossible for him to have the freedom of choice that Max does at 15 until he is 18. I think my only question was about his vote. Did he vote again on his choice to give up that free will until he is an adult? He's a super smart kid and that would be odd... but if he does not want to see me and this really had nothing to do with our divorce I'll let Kari know and step away. And we will agree to disagree.

On 12/09/2024 at 12:28 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:47 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

His voice has not been silent. You have ignored it and blamed on me.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Allright. I can't fight any harder for mini-me at this point if you won't entertain the option of equality between, he and Max. Legally you can do whatever you want to him.

I just noted earlier you had said that "Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me."

So given your statement, and the disparity of how your parent each of them, I thought it was worth a try. You have made it clear- Max has free will. AD and his voice will be silent.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We agree on the fact that it was signed. I was told to review before it goes to court. That is why I want to discuss in a peaceful and constructive way.

My ears are open to any suggestions . I'm only advocating for equality between our children. That's all- equal treatment between two brothers.

I hope you will please consider equality over inequity.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:08 PM)
Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Please stop. It was signed on Thursday.

On 12/08/2024 at 05:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 05:05 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am asking to talk tonight before it goes to court. That is why it has to be tonight. If one call in four months (a rate of 3 a year) is too much for something of this magnitude. Then there will never be anything that meets the bar.

If you don't let me chat, you see blame, because that is what you are making up. I am not blaming you. I am asking for a peaceful and constructive discussion. May we please take a minute to even check if
It's worth a longer conversation.

Just putting our heads in the sand won't help him.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:54 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I do understand you have a different perspective.

This is still too raw. My suggestion is we step back for a bit. All I see is blame on me.

This has been signed is my understanding.

On 12/08/2024 at 04:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Would you like to chat for a minute. Just you and me, taking our kids best interests in mind? I am not trying to coerce or arm twist. But frankly when we meditate it is inherently adversarial. No child ever benefits from his parents fighting. Ever.

Before this goes into the court to be signed into canon law perhaps we see if there is a solution that does not take Adrian's agency till 18. Something that allows for our boys to say they were treated the same. If he does not want to see me, that's fine. He doesn't.

But taking his free will and choice while Max had his for four years is something that I think you will regret knowing how passionate you are about that. I'll do what I can do to give him free will again. Just the same as Max has, nothing more or less.

It was pretty devastating to Michael and to see the Ashbury kids treated so differently in the will. Deep pain that made us question if we were "real kids."

This is 100x that. They are blood brothers. And this is their parents. Talk about really doubting your identity. It can't get more authentic than that.

It's been a long hard 18 months. Natalie will be a distant memory when AD turns 16 and can drive, but has no rights on his parenting plan. I'm asking if we can reach a peaceful solution for both their sake. Please stand back from the fury of the battlefield and let's consider a compassionate and durable decision.

This is only a win or loss for Adrian. Our baby.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 04:49 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

You had it. You choose not to use it. I have all versions. No free will for Adrian, total and complete free will for Max was not in his plan. You took Adrian's agency away through adulthood. You can't change what you did and will need to live with that.

On 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:46 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

We had Connor's plan too.

On 12/08/2024 at 09:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 03:45 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian's voice is your voice. You don't know what he says to me or to Kari. You have done this since we were best friends. But you destroyed that. And now tell me you know what he really wants more than what two adults actually hear with our ears. You did that this summer as well when he told two professionals the same story and then you denied that. And to factual, honesty and transparency is not your strong suite.

For the record:

1. Factual Comparison of Children's Status:

Max (16):

- Full autonomy over relationship
- Direct communication with both parents
- Ability to modify contact based on preferences
- No supervision requirements
- No phase requirements
- Immediate implementation of his choices

Adrian (12):

- No autonomy until age 18
- Cannot modify contact regardless of preference
- Must follow rigid phase system
- Maximum contact permanently reduced
- Cannot return to previous relationship level even with perfect compliance
- Will be older than Max's current age before having any choice

2. Documented Impact:

2023: 66 days of direct father-son time

Current Framework:

- Phase I: 8 supervised hours bi-weekly
- Maximum (Phase IV): Significantly reduced from previous level
- Required waiting period: Minimum 240 days with perfect compliance
- Net reduction: Approximately 82% decrease in father-son time

3. Mediation Record:

- I specifically requested Adrian be given the same autonomy as Max
- This request was explicitly denied by you not to grant that equality

- The result is a permanent restriction on Adrian's relationship choices until age 18
- This creates a documented disparity between siblings that will last Adrian's entire remaining childhood

4. Professional Documentation:

- Our reunification counselor said the status quo at best is life support, nothing more.
- Two professionals received direct communication from Adrian in Summer 2023
- Their professional documentation exists independent of any parent's interpretation
- The current plan provides no mechanism for professional recommendations to modify the contact schedule

You did this. Let's not play with what was said in mediation. I was super clear, unambiguous, that at a minimum, could we at least please give Adrian the free will that Max has? They are brother's and given that your closeness to Max and mine to Adrian, this disparity not only silence him, but also could create a crisis in the future. The answer was a definitive "no." Adrian will be restricted regardless of either his voice or choice from now till adulthood,

I came in with Connor's plan. Yours was far worse, and that is what you go. I will not permit you to alter history. You did this. After the last 18 months and hundreds of thousands of dollars, your grand accomplishment was to give Max free will and take away Adrian's till he is an adult.

On 12/08/2024 at 07:54 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 09:13 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Adrian has been expressing how he feels, continues to, and has found his voice. You saw that in his communications to others, not just me.

I was not privy to communications to you in mediation about April timeframe. Your lawyer was aware of the legal ramifications going into mediation so there should have been no surprise.

Below is blaming me again.

I'm looking forward to speaking with Sound Practices. I understand they were supposed to reach out to me, but I have not heard from them to date. Is below how they encourage you to address this issue and communications with me?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/08/2024 at 07:41 AM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

I am not disagreeing. I understand what happened. I would not see AD till April at best if I did not give in. You are a great mom. But what I asked was if Adrian and Max voted on the plan like usual. I need to work with professionals to tell Adrian his childhood with me is largely over. He will reach Max's age and it will come and go. Then it will be three years later, only when is an adult, will he get to find his voice. Till then nothing he says will matter. You took that.

And you took it from only Adrian. You took mini-me's free will. You denied him agency for the rest of his childhood. And we all know how close you and Max are and how close mini-me and I were. So those should be interesting teen years deciphering how Max got free will at 15 (my proposal btw) but Adrian gets nothing at all- zero (your demand) Oh I am very clear about what you did in mediation. Crystal clear.

So just asking - did you take a vote again?

On 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:51 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

The place to discuss was mediation.

We can agree to disagree.

On 12/07/2024 at 06:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:50 PM)

Subject: Re: What Happened Today

Did you miss the question here?

Did Adrian and Max vote again?

On 12/06/2024 at 02:10 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: What Happened Today

We should decide how we constructively address today. Ran our plan through ChatGPT for fun:

<ChatGPT>

Let me break down the actual impact:

Max:

- Complete autonomy over relationship with father
- Can choose any amount of time
- Can make decisions based on his feelings
- No restrictions on contact
- No supervision requirements
- No phases to progress through

Adrian:

Lost significant father son time from even last year

- Went from 66 days solo to limited visitation
- Can't get back to previous level of contact
- Permanently reduced relationship during childhood

No autonomy

- Can't choose more time like his brother
- Can't request return to previous schedule
- Stuck in rigid structure regardless of wishes
- No mechanism to increase time beyond set schedule

Unequal Treatment

- Brother has full freedom
- He has permanent restrictions
- Different standards for same family
- Can't earn same privileges as Max

Long-term Impact

- Changes relationship with father through childhood
- Can't recover lost time/connection ever

- Must wait until adulthood for autonomy
- Psychological impact of different treatment from brother

Unlike his brother, Max, this shows that rather than Adrian being protected, his free will as a child has been permanently taken away from him, even well past Max's age:

- Reduce his relationship with his father
- Remove his agency in the relationship
- Create inequality with his brother
- Limit future options until adulthood

The "protections" are actually restrictions that fundamentally alter his access to his father for the rest of his childhood, unlike his brother, who maintains full autonomy and control. Comparatively, Adrian has lost his relationship with his father while Max decides what he likes.

<EndChatGPT/>

So..... I've been thinking about how to explain to Adrian what happened today in a way that he can understand. This isn't about me - it's about Adrian never being able to have more time with his father, no matter what he wants or does, ever. Unlike Max, who has full freedom to choose his relationship with me, Adrian is now permanently restricted. He has no way to ask for more, return to what we had, or make his own decisions about spending time with me until he's an adult. His childhood as it was, is effectively over today, with no way for him to ever get it back no matter what he does.

The hardest part is explaining why one brother has full autonomy and the other has zero - and how, through no fault of his own, Adrian has lost something so irreplaceable forever. Agreeing to this was a real-life "Sophie's Choice." It's going to be such a tough conversation. One that, if my parents had tried to explain this kind of logic to Michael and me, no message could have soothed the pain of that disparity. As flawed as they were, they had the decency to understand what that would do to us.

BTW- did you have them vote on this again? If so, no explanation necessary.

Message 59 of 287

Sent: 12/09/2024 at 12:57 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: It has not been entered into court

I sincerely apologize if you feel this is abuse. I was just trying to let you know the facts, because you keep saying everything had been submitted. I thought you would appreciate it. I will step away and you can believe whatever you like. Have a good day.

On 12/09/2024 at 12:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:54 PM)
Subject: Re: It has not been entered into court

This is abusive.

Your lawyer sent over docs so unsure what game you are playing.

On 12/09/2024 at 11:13 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/09/2024 at 12:27 PM)
Subject: It has not been entered into court

. Well played.

Message 60 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 61 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 62 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)

Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 63 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)

Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 64 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:28 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Happy Anniversary

I hope you got my message. I meant what I said.

Message 65 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 66 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Happy Anniversary

I did. Thank you

On 12/10/2024 at 07:28 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Happy Anniversary

I hope you got my message. I meant what I said.

Message 67 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 68 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 69 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 70 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry
Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21–22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)

Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 71 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The plan we signed says Winter Break starts after school on Friday until the Sunday.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry
Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21–22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 73 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 10:47 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Ok. Thank you.

Your portion is only 532, so you put in too much.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 74 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 10:51 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:57 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I'm sorry. I honestly don't see that. And that would be double dipping, right? You want both weekends too? Either way, if you don't mind:

- Please drop that text into the thread, no attorneys are needed

- Let's create a workable solution together, I can flexible here

On 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The plan we signed says Winter Break starts after school on Friday until the Sunday.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21-22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 75 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 11:04 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 11:20 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I pulled from mid winter break language. I understood all breaks start after school.

We can have our lawyers resolve this quickly on when Winter break should start.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:51 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:57 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I'm sorry. I honestly don't see that. And that would be double dipping, right? You want both weekends too? Either way, if you don't mind:

- Please drop that text into the thread, no attorneys are needed
 - Let's create a workable solution together, I can flexible here
-

On 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The plan we signed says Winter Break starts after school on Friday until the Sunday.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry
Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21–22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 76 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 11:23 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Ok. I am offering for us to do it. I want to turn over a new leaf. I have said that I will work with you. I don't want to disrupt plans and think we can figure something reasonable out that benefits the children. Are you just refusing to take that offer for peaceful resolution?

On 12/10/2024 at 11:04 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 11:20 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I pulled from mid winter break language. I understood all breaks start after school.

We can have our lawyers resolve this quickly on when Winter break should start.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:51 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:57 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I'm sorry. I honestly don't see that. And that would be double dipping, right? You want both weekends too? Either way, if you don't mind:

- Please drop that text into the thread, no attorneys are needed
 - Let's create a workable solution together, I can flexible here
-

On 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The plan we signed says Winter Break starts after school on Friday until the Sunday.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry
Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21–22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 77 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 12:16 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Drop Off

May I swing by to drop off a card after lunch?

Maybe buy you a tea let's turn the page!

Message 78 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 03:43 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I don't want any of my language below to be confrontational or "daring" you not to take my offer. That is not my intent.

I also want to ensure that you know I am blessing the trip and hope we can arrive at a makeup date if it turns out to be in order.

">31" it's our next chapter.

On 12/10/2024 at 11:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Ok. I am offering for us to do it. I want to turn over a new leaf. I have said that I will work with you. I don't want to disrupt plans and think we can figure something reasonable out that benefits the children. Are you just refusing to take that offer for peaceful resolution?

On 12/10/2024 at 11:04 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 11:20 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I pulled from mid winter break language. I understood all breaks start after school.

We can have our lawyers resolve this quickly on when Winter break should start.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:51 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:57 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I'm sorry. I honestly don't see that. And that would be double dipping, right? You want both weekends too? Either way, if you don't mind:

- Please drop that text into the thread, no attorneys are needed
 - Let's create a workable solution together, I can flexible here
-

On 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The plan we signed says Winter Break starts after school on Friday until the Sunday.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry
Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21–22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)

Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 79 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thank you. I'll send over the trip authorization this week.

On 12/10/2024 at 03:43 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I don't want any of my language below to be confrontational or "daring" you not to take my offer. That is not my intent.

I also want to ensure that you know I am blessing the trip and hope we can arrive at a makeup date if it turns out to be in order.

">31" it's our next chapter.

On 12/10/2024 at 11:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Ok. I am offering for us to do it. I want to turn over a new leaf. I have said that I will work with you. I don't want to disrupt plans and think we can figure something reasonable out that benefits the children. Are you just refusing to take that offer for peaceful resolution?

On 12/10/2024 at 11:04 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 11:20 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I pulled from mid winter break language. I understood all breaks start after school.

We can have our lawyers resolve this quickly on when Winter break should start.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:51 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:57 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

I'm sorry. I honestly don't see that. And that would be double dipping, right? You want both weekends too? Either way, if you don't mind:

- Please drop that text into the thread, no attorneys are needed

- Let's create a workable solution together, I can flexible here

On 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:43 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The plan we signed says Winter Break starts after school on Friday until the Sunday.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:37 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Attachments: Winter_Break_2024.jpg (141 KB)

I don't want to argue, either. And you went straight to the lawyers in this instead of even asking if we could work together. That mode won't help us unless Natalie is on a permanent retainer, so you can always go after me. I am suggesting a path forward of compromise and solutions.

The SAAS calendar explicitly states that Winter Break starts on December 23, 2024, which suggests that December 21–22 is still part of the regular schedule, not Winter Break. If the weekend should not be interrupted, then it has to start for it not to be interrupted.

Let's not be jerks to each other. Would you prefer to insist that Winter Break starts before Winter Break or work together?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:56 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

The holidays take priority over regular time.

So if one of us gets Spring break, winter break etc, it would not be interrupted if one of us has that weekend.

If you disagree, I can send my travel authorization via Natalie and Lisa can respond with your interpretation.

I would prefer not to argue here. That's what Natalie and I very specifically discussed with Rosen that I would get that weekend as I have boys over Winter Break.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

That was not communicated. I don't understand how my weekend could be taken away?

On 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:47 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Yes but Dec 20-23 falls during the winter break.

In mediation I specifically asked Judge Rosen as I thought we had to negotiate these dates to take boys to Whistler. He confirmed I did not as it fell during winter break which overrides the regular schedule. I asked him to communicate that to your side.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:44 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Sorry. I assumed this weekend was make up and next was back to regularly scheduled programming?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Leave Friday Dec 20, return Monday Dec 23

On 12/10/2024 at 07:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: SAAS backcountry

Thanks. What weekend?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:02 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:10 AM)
Subject: SAAS backcountry

I'll review the invoices and pay the larger amount.

There are some other documents that need to be completed that I will be sending over.

I also have the whistler place for the weekend and plan to take the boys. I'll send over the travel authorization as well.

Message 80 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 05:49 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Drop Off

I was in all day training, at driving school now with another meeting this evening.

On 12/10/2024 at 12:16 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Drop Off

May I swing by to drop off a card after lunch?

Maybe buy you a tea let's turn the page!

Message 81 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 05:51 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

We didn't have time to address last week. Can you share an update on this.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:55 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 11:18 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

I can simplify.

Oct 31st. Current total is 2,417. There could be more. Seattle children's still shows amounts pending insurance.

That note was because you had said no to paying for your portion of medical and then pushed back on other expenses I had included.

Just let me know if you still have that interpretation.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:12 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31
Attachments: Bills_or_Accusations.jpg (165 KB)

I'm working on this today now that Lisa Summers is back, But I'll be honest it's very difficult to understand exactly what's going on here. We have discussions in email and then you crossover to Ofw and I think I'm expected to understand the join in your mind.

When I go into the spreadsheet, I see an October page but I also see pages that frankly feel borderline caustic and confrontational. Even the language used in those tabs feels combative. I'm letting you know that this situation is very difficult to sort out.

I am trying to work with you, but it feels like an evidence gathering exercise in "gotcha accounting" sometimes. Just giving you my feedback as I suggested so we can do this in a constructive way.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Sure. And I assure you that I will work on this prior to mediation. I want us to have a crack at it. I'm not trying to surprise you, I'm trying to work with you.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 82 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 05:55 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Following up on below.

Also Ecopest stopped for quarterly check in to look at mice traps and said a lot of activity, all bait was gone and mouse in one. Any concerns splitting that bill. It was 208. I forwarded email to you which has all details and will set up the annual inspection which is included in the contract to check crawl space.

On 12/02/2024 at 02:59 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)

Subject: House repairs/ tree/yard

Greg provided bill for fixing a hole in the wall for 180. I sent it to you.

To approve:

Greg is looking into hinges to fix sauna door that snapped over the summer. This can wait closer when we get house ready for sale if you prefer.

Kelly/Tom have asked to remove the tree outside our front yard and they will pay. We had it trimmed before but it's has grown further up and wider. Initially they asked because it was blocking their view but upon inspection roots are breaking up driveway which technically we would need to fix if damage gets too bad. We might need to note in sale disclosures if we don't take care of it now. Kelly has noted it already.

Moss/weed removal for yard/driveway etc by gardener and/or Greg. Greg power washed moss last time along driveway. New gardener used by Scott (Quy disappeared) can help with weed removal. This can wait for house sale too.

Message 83 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:54 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

For this Thursday, will Alan pick up from SAAS at 3pm or bus at 3:45?

On 12/06/2024 at 06:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Confirmed with Alan. We can shift and start on Thursday as well.

On 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 84 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:58 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:25 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Nope. What's my share? $104?

On 12/10/2024 at 05:55 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Following up on below.

Also Ecopest stopped for quarterly check in to look at mice traps and said a lot of activity, all bait was gone and mouse in one. Any concerns splitting that bill. It was 208. I forwarded email to you which has all details and will set up the annual inspection which is included in the contract to check crawl space.

On 12/02/2024 at 02:59 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)

Subject: House repairs/ tree/yard

Greg provided bill for fixing a hole in the wall for 180. I sent it to you.

To approve:

Greg is looking into hinges to fix sauna door that snapped over the summer. This can wait closer when we get house ready for sale if you prefer.

Kelly/Tom have asked to remove the tree outside our front yard and they will pay. We had it trimmed before but it's has grown further up and wider. Initially they asked because it was blocking their view but upon inspection roots are breaking up driveway which technically we would need to fix if damage gets too bad. We might need to note in sale disclosures if we don't take care of it now. Kelly has noted it already.

Moss/weed removal for yard/driveway etc by gardener and/or Greg. Greg power washed moss last time along driveway. New gardener used by Scott (Quy disappeared) can help with weed removal. This can wait for house sale too.

Message 85 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:58 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Bus. Thanks.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

For this Thursday, will Alan pick up from SAAS at 3pm or bus at 3:45?

On 12/06/2024 at 06:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Confirmed with Alan. We can shift and start on Thursday as well.

On 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)
Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 86 of 287

Sent: 12/10/2024 at 07:59 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM)
Subject: Re: Drop Off

I understand. I'll take a raincheck.

But please let's really do it this year.

On 12/10/2024 at 05:49 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Drop Off

I was in all day training, at driving school now with another meeting this evening.

On 12/10/2024 at 12:16 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Drop Off

May I swing by to drop off a card after lunch?

Maybe buy you a tea let's turn the page!

Message 87 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Yes. How about other items?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:58 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:25 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Nope. What's my share? $104?

On 12/10/2024 at 05:55 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Following up on below.

Also Ecopest stopped for quarterly check in to look at mice traps and said a lot of activity, all bait was gone and mouse in one. Any concerns splitting that bill. It was 208. I forwarded email to you which has all details and will set up the annual inspection which is included in the contract to check crawl space.

On 12/02/2024 at 02:59 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)

Subject: House repairs/ tree/yard

Greg provided bill for fixing a hole in the wall for 180. I sent it to you.

To approve:

Greg is looking into hinges to fix sauna door that snapped over the summer. This can wait closer when we get house ready for sale if you prefer.

Kelly/Tom have asked to remove the tree outside our front yard and they will pay. We had it trimmed before but it's has grown further up and wider. Initially they asked because it was blocking their view but upon inspection roots are breaking up driveway which technically we would need to fix if damage gets too bad. We might need to note in sale disclosures if we don't take care of it now. Kelly has noted it already.

Moss/weed removal for yard/driveway etc by gardener and/or Greg. Greg power washed moss last time along driveway. New gardener used by Scott (Quy disappeared) can help with weed removal. This can wait for house sale too.

Message 88 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Ok. I'll let Adrian know for tomorrow.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:58 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Bus. Thanks.

On 12/10/2024 at 07:54 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

For this Thursday, will Alan pick up from SAAS at 3pm or bus at 3:45?

On 12/06/2024 at 06:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/07/2024 at 12:49 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Confirmed with Alan. We can shift and start on Thursday as well.

On 12/06/2024 at 10:50 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 01:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Thank you for the update. I did not hear from him.

Next Saturday? He would need to be home by 5:30pm.

On 12/05/2024 at 10:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/06/2024 at 10:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Alan called during mediation. He may have talked to you first, but you would have also been in mediation. He can't do Sunday, he is out of town. Open to suggestions.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:04 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

Sounds good.

On 12/01/2024 at 11:08 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM)

Subject: Re: Sunday Dec 8

So, I assume that the mediation on the 5th might impact plans. But agree having a loosely defined framework makes sense.

My first reaction is that b-ball will be after the visit. Perhaps we work backwards and use hoops as the handoff that night. Thoughts?

Let's please afford the opportunity to re-evaluate if new information surfaces as was the case in our last mediation agreement. Agree?

On 12/01/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Sunday Dec 8

Do you have timing/thoughts for the visit Sunday?

We don't have details for Sunday basketball game yet but trying to understand if you might have him home prior to game or if you are thinking go straight to game.

Message 89 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 12:27 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Veracross payment

It was for backcountry ski trip

Message 90 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 05:35 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 05:35 PM)
Subject: Trip authorization

Thank you returning it so quickly.

Message 91 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 05:36 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:30 AM)
Subject: Re: Trip authorization

No worries ">31"

On 12/11/2024 at 05:35 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 05:35 PM)
Subject: Trip authorization

Thank you returning it so quickly.

Message 92 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 09:26 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:30 AM)
Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard
Attachments: Ecopest.jpg (36 KB)
Punched_Wall.jpg (35 KB)

Ecopest attached

Just noting the other itmes. It is difficult to do this way

I'll also add $90 for the wall- How did Max make the hole? I never got a reply.

Hinges- Deffered, Ok

Tree- Deffered, Ok

Weed- Deffered, Ok

On 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Yes. How about other items?

On 12/10/2024 at 07:58 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:25 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Nope. What's my share? $104?

On 12/10/2024 at 05:55 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)

Subject: Re: House repairs/ tree/yard

Following up on below.

Also Ecopest stopped for quarterly check in to look at mice traps and said a lot of activity, all bait was gone and mouse in one. Any concerns splitting that bill. It was 208. I forwarded email to you which has all details and will set up the annual inspection which is included in the contract to check crawl space.

On 12/02/2024 at 02:59 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 03:55 PM)

Subject: House repairs/ tree/yard

Greg provided bill for fixing a hole in the wall for 180. I sent it to you.

To approve:

Greg is looking into hinges to fix sauna door that snapped over the summer. This can wait closer when we get house ready for sale if you prefer.

Kelly/Tom have asked to remove the tree outside our front yard and they will pay. We had it trimmed before but it's has grown further up and wider. Initially they asked because it was blocking their view but upon inspection roots are breaking up driveway which technically we would need to fix if damage gets too bad. We might need to note in sale disclosures if we don't take care of it now. Kelly has noted it already.

Moss/weed removal for yard/driveway etc by gardener and/or Greg. Greg power washed moss last time along driveway. New gardener used by Scott (Quy disappeared) can help with weed removal. This can wait for house sale too.

Message 93 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 09:29 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:30 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

I mentioned that it was hard to understand. Just giving me the totals I owe is still not great. Can you enumerate line items in such a way that I can have Lisa compare to our agreement? Even if it is just a screen cap of the excel sheet that I noted that I was struggling with.

On 12/10/2024 at 05:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

We didn't have time to address last week. Can you share an update on this.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:55 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 11:18 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

I can simplify.

Oct 31st. Current total is 2,417. There could be more. Seattle children's still shows amounts pending insurance.

That note was because you had said no to paying for your portion of medical and then pushed back on other expenses I had included.

Just let me know if you still have that interpretation.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:12 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31
Attachments: Bills_or_Accusations.jpg (165 KB)

I'm working on this today now that Lisa Summers is back, But I'll be honest it's very difficult to understand exactly what's going on here. We have discussions in email and then you crossover to Ofw and I think I'm expected to understand the join in your mind.

When I go into the spreadsheet, I see an October page but I also see pages that frankly feel borderline caustic and confrontational. Even the language used in those tabs feels combative. I'm letting you know that this situation is very difficult to sort out.

I am trying to work with you, but it feels like an evidence gathering exercise in "gotcha accounting" sometimes. Just giving you my feedback as I suggested so we can do this in a constructive way.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Sure. And I assure you that I will work on this prior to mediation. I want us to have a crack at it. I'm not trying to surprise you, I'm trying to work with you.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 94 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 09:31 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:31 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Should I pull the $532 or do we just say that anything above $250 is mine unless one of my bills hit that I am trying to remove

On 12/10/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Ok. Thank you.

Your portion is only 532, so you put in too much.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 95 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
Current Total: $$380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489$

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
Equalization Payment: $300,000
Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $412,739 at 37%
Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%
Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000
Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings
Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-
For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today
For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-
I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-
I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 96 of 287

Sent: 12/11/2024 at 10:17 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:26 AM)
Subject: Developer Weeks

How should we handle them? I am open to suggestions. If we booked them in prime weeks, we could do what you did last time or swap with friends. But I'm not sure what else we would really use them for. Either way, they are worth a material amount. Let me know your thoughts.

Message 97 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Developer Weeks

They don't allow gs anymore, just golf place. I'll see what we have left and ones left are restricted, so very limited use.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:17 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:26 AM)
Subject: Developer Weeks

How should we handle them? I am open to suggestions. If we booked them in prime weeks, we could do what you did last time or swap with friends. But I'm not sure what else we would really use them for. Either way, they are worth a material amount. Let me know your thoughts.

Message 98 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000

Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70

Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489

Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Sales Needed for Me: $200,000

Equalization Payment: $300,000

Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $412,739 at 37%

Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Additional Sales Needed: $200,000

Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $112,739 at 37%

Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000

Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings

Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 99 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:31 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok

On 12/11/2024 at 09:29 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:30 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

I mentioned that it was hard to understand. Just giving me the totals I owe is still not great. Can you enumerate line items in such a way that I can have Lisa compare to our agreement? Even if it is just a screen cap of the excel sheet that I noted that I was struggling with.

On 12/10/2024 at 05:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:57 PM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

We didn't have time to address last week. Can you share an update on this.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:55 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 11:18 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

I can simplify.

Oct 31st. Current total is 2,417. There could be more. Seattle children's still shows amounts pending insurance.

That note was because you had said no to paying for your portion of medical and then pushed back on other expenses I had included.

Just let me know if you still have that interpretation.

On 12/03/2024 at 10:12 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/03/2024 at 10:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31
Attachments: Bills_or_Accusations.jpg (165 KB)

I'm working on this today now that Lisa Summers is back, But I'll be honest it's very difficult to understand exactly what's going on here. We have discussions in email and then you crossover to Ofw and I think I'm expected to understand the join in your mind.

When I go into the spreadsheet, I see an October page but I also see pages that frankly feel borderline caustic and confrontational. Even the language used in those tabs feels combative. I'm letting you know that this situation is very difficult to sort out.

I am trying to work with you, but it feels like an evidence gathering exercise in "gotcha accounting" sometimes. Just giving you my feedback as I suggested so we can do this in a constructive way.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/02/2024 at 06:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Sure. And I assure you that I will work on this prior to mediation. I want us to have a crack at it. I'm not trying to surprise you, I'm trying to work with you.

On 12/01/2024 at 03:03 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Will discuss in mediation unless you get feedback from Lisa prior, my interpretation is correct and you will pay that amount.

Thank you

On 12/01/2024 at 11:04 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 02:52 PM)
Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

That feels like you are posturing and being a little combative. Per the proposal, I'm sharing to provide feedback on the way your note lands with me.

I don't think I said I what you are stating below. I said I would ask the Lisa(s) and am more than happy to go along with the plan as it reads. Thats all.

If both sides legal counsel think it reads differently, then yes, it might be something we need a mediators sage advice to adjudicate. That's what he does.

I hope this helps. And as we discussed, the most important thing is mutual respect, and space to have a different opinion without it becoming personal.

Looking forward to a cooperative resolution!

On 12/01/2024 at 07:30 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 10:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Ok. Noting you want to spend the time in mediation to discuss the interpretation.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/01/2024 at 07:27 AM)

Subject: Re: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Thanks!

I am happy to share this with the Lisa (s) and follow whatever interpretation we arrive at.

I certainly don't want us to argue over it. I am more than happy to go along with the plan.

On 11/30/2024 at 07:33 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 11/30/2024 at 07:47 PM)

Subject: Expenses prior to Oct 31

Per spreadsheet this is currently $2,417.

Lisa included the language in the draft docs sent over last week "reserve all other past due expenses prior to 10/31/24" but it seems you have a different interpretation of what this means, or maybe and Lisa are aligned it does not cover what I sent you for expenses totaling 2,417.

Confirming if you want to address in mediation next week, and I will make a note to Natalie.

Message 100 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:31 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Let's wait for Safeco and passport check to clear.

On 12/11/2024 at 09:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:31 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Should I pull the $532 or do we just say that anything above $250 is mine unless one of my bills hit that I am trying to remove

On 12/10/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:55 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Ok. Thank you.

Your portion is only 532, so you put in too much.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 101 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM)
Subject: Re: Developer Weeks

Ok. Thanks!

On 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Developer Weeks

They don't allow gs anymotee, just golf place. I'll see what we have left and ones left are restricted, so very limited use.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:17 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:26 AM)
Subject: Developer Weeks

How should we handle them? I am open to suggestions. If we booked them in prime weeks, we could do what you did last time or swap with friends. But I'm not sure what else we would really use them for. Either way, they are worth a material amount. Let me know your thoughts.

Message 102 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
Equalization Payment: $300,000
Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $412,739 at 37%
Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%
Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000
Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings
Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 103 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:50 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Ok

On 12/12/2024 at 06:31 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Let's wait for Safeco and passport check to clear.

On 12/11/2024 at 09:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:31 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Should I pull the $532 or do we just say that anything above $250 is mine unless one of my bills hit that I am trying to remove

On 12/10/2024 at 10:47 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:55 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Ok. Thank you.

Your portion is only 532, so you put in too much.

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 104 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000

Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70

Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489

Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Sales Needed for Me: $200,000

Equalization Payment: $300,000

Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $412,739 at 37%

Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Additional Sales Needed: $200,000

Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $112,739 at 37%

Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000

Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings

Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 105 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 06:59 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)

Subject: Adrian today

He threw up last night. Discussing his options today. I'll let you know.

Message 106 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 07:23 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian today

We decided he should stay home to rest. Can you let Alan know and we can look for a make up day. Poor guy.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:59 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)

Subject: Adrian today

He threw up last night. Discussing his options today. I'll let you know.

Message 107 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 07:25 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:32 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian today

Totally. The dude really has the worst health record. I will give him a ring later.

On 12/12/2024 at 07:23 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian today

We decided he should stay home to rest. Can you let Alan know and we can look for a make up day. Poor guy.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:59 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Adrian today

He threw up last night. Discussing his options today. I'll let you know.

Message 108 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 08:33 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:33 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian today

Yup... this is not new. He has always been like this.

On 12/12/2024 at 07:25 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:32 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian today

Totally. The dude really has the worst health record. I will give him a ring later.

On 12/12/2024 at 07:23 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian today

We decided he should stay home to rest. Can you let Alan know and we can look for a make up day. Poor guy.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:59 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Adrian today

He threw up last night. Discussing his options today. I'll let you know.

Message 109 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 08:34 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:41 AM)
Subject: Connor

Were you able to sign an ROI for him so he could talk to the PC today? I sent mine last night.

Message 110 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account . That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000

Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70

Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489

Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Sales Needed for Me: $200,000

Equalization Payment: $300,000

Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $412,739 at 37%

Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Additional Sales Needed: $200,000

Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%
Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000
Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings
Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-
For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today
For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-
I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-
I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 111 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 08:41 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Connor

I sent it last night.

On 12/12/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:41 AM)
Subject: Connor

Were you able to sign an ROI for him so he could talk to the PC today? I sent mine last night.

Message 112 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Jan 1 if I sell in 2024 makes it immaterial. Correct?

Then it is simply a semantics game we are playing. The point is to move the tax hit to save the extra 7k.

If you are unwilling to wait for the sale on Jan 1 to clear and get your check, I think the discussion is over.

Is that correct?

On 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account . That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000

Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70

Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489

Current Total: $$380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489$

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Sales Needed for Me: $200,000

Equalization Payment: $300,000

Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $412,739 at 37%

Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489

Additional Sales Needed: $200,000

Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%

Remaining $112,739 at 37%

Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000

Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings

Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 113 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 09:32 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

So this entire situation has been incredibly frustrating for me, and I want to be direct about why. From the very beginning, even in our first meetings with Yurushka, my goal has always been to make the smartest financial decisions for both of us and the estate we leave for our kids. I feel like you knew there was a better way to handle this equalization payment, and I ended up being played. Like this was just another point on the scoreboard.

You and I could structure this in a way that didn't send a huge portion of our money to the government in taxes—money that could have been used for Mac and AD. This is your area of expertise. It's your career. Throughout our marriage, I contributed by bringing in large numbers, and you managed those numbers wisely. I always trusted you to act in the best interest of the family, and I feel like that trust wasn't reciprocated when it came to dividing things up.

I understand what the mediation document says, but I'm asking—after all the effort I've made to keep you in the house, pay off the HELOC, and ensure stability for everyone if we can reconsider the strategy to achieve the liquidity you need without sending unnecessary money to the IRS. The kids would benefit far more from those funds being used for their education, therapy, or future security.

I'm not trying to re-litigate but to appeal to values I hope we share: making the best decisions for the kids and preserving what we've worked so hard to build. I hope you'll consider this and work with me to find a better solution for us all that does not impact you. The inability to even have this discussion adds to the frustration so I hope we can do better for our long term health. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Jan 1 if I sell in 2024 makes it immaterial. Correct?

Then it is simply a semantics game we are playing. The point is to move the tax hit to save the extra 7k.

If you are unwilling to wait for the sale on Jan 1 to clear and get your check, I think the discussion is over.

Is that correct?

On 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account . That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT
Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
Equalization Payment: $300,000
Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $412,739 at 37%
Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT
Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%

Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000

Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings

Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 114 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 11:11 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:02 PM)

Subject: Adrian

Spoke with AD for a while. He seems like he is feeling rough. I appreciate you holding him back and giving him children's Tylenol. Thank you. Based on his symptoms, you might also consider Dramamine for two reasons: 1) it can help with the woozy feeling, like seasickness or vertigo, and 2) it may help him rest better. Let me know what you think and that you got this. Knowing is tough, and I don't love that in these situations. I'll share in email too.

Message 115 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 01:02 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:03 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Thank you

On 12/12/2024 at 11:11 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:02 PM)
Subject: Adrian

Spoke with AD for a while. He seems like he is feeling rough. I appreciate you holding him back and giving him children's Tylenol. Thank you. Based on his symptoms, you might also consider Dramamine for two reasons: 1) it can help with the woozy feeling, like seasickness or vertigo, and 2) it may help him rest better. Let me know what you think and that you got this. Knowing is tough, and I don't love that in these situations. I'll share in email too.

Message 116 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 02:02 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:33 PM)
Subject: Health Insurance

Can I get the card or at least the numbers till I get a card for SBux insurance. Funny to think that is why you made me go to work for Microsoft more than two decades ago. Who knew...

Message 117 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 03:34 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM)
Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I don't have your msft Premera Health card.

Did you submit reimbursements yet?

On 12/12/2024 at 02:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:33 PM)
Subject: Health Insurance

Can I get the card or at least the numbers till I get a card for SBux insurance. Funny to think that is why you made me go to work for Microsoft more than two decades ago. Who knew...

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

This is frustrating to receive.

It was proposed by your side to structure this way, unprompted by me. There was a trade off.

You spent 170k more than me while unemployed . Refused to pay me maintenance and argued for small child support, refusing to pay bills owed including max medical. I'm in the red every month.

On 12/12/2024 at 09:32 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:10 PM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

So this entire situation has been incredibly frustrating for me, and I want to be direct about why. From the very beginning, even in our first meetings with Yurushka, my goal has always been to make the smartest financial decisions for both of us and the estate we leave for our kids. I feel like you knew there was a better way to handle this equalization payment, and I ended up being played. Like this was just another point on the scoreboard.

You and I could structure this in a way that didn't send a huge portion of our money to the government in taxes—money that could have been used for Mac and AD. This is your area of expertise. It's your career. Throughout our marriage, I contributed by bringing in large numbers, and you managed those numbers wisely. I always trusted you to act in the best interest of the family, and I feel like that trust wasn't reciprocated when it came to dividing things up.

I understand what the mediation document says, but I'm asking—after all the effort I've made to keep you in the house, pay off the HELOC, and ensure stability for everyone if we can reconsider the strategy to achieve the liquidity you need without sending unnecessary money to the IRS. The kids would benefit far more from those funds being used for their education, therapy, or future security.

I'm not trying to re-litigate but to appeal to values I hope we share: making the best decisions for the kids and preserving what we've worked so hard to build. I hope you'll consider this and work with me to find a better solution for us all that does not impact you. The inability to even have this discussion adds to the frustration so I hope we can do better for our long term health. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Jan 1 if I sell in 2024 makes it immaterial. Correct?

Then it is simply a semantics game we are playing. The point is to move the tax hit to save the extra 7k.

If you are unwilling to wait for the sale on Jan 1 to clear and get your check, I think the discussion is over.

Is that correct?

On 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account . That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
Equalization Payment: $300,000
Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $412,739 at 37%
Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%

Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000

Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings

Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 119 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I'm talking about Starbucks

On 12/12/2024 at 03:34 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I don't have your msft Premera Health card.

Did you submit reimbursements yet?

On 12/12/2024 at 02:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:33 PM)

Subject: Health Insurance

Can I get the card or at least the numbers till I get a card for SBux insurance. Funny to think that is why you made me go to work for Microsoft more than two decades ago. Who knew...

Message 120 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 03:57 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Well why don't we both stop and figure out what preserves Max and Adrian's well being. I can make some proposals that don't impact you negatively.

And if you think that my side has the wherewithal to do what you do, I'll just let that go. Is Natalie going to GPM product teams to bring in seven figures?

Let's stop and work together. That is all I was asking. But we can't even have a conversation. I offered twice to help on House and HELOC. Unprompted.

Should we have a discussion? That's all I'm asking.

On 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

This is frustrating to receive.

It was proposed by your side to structure this way, unprompted by me. There was a trade off.

You spent 170k more than me while unemployed . Refused to pay me maintenance and argued for small child support, refusing to pay bills owed including max medical. I'm in the red every month.

On 12/12/2024 at 09:32 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

So this entire situation has been incredibly frustrating for me, and I want to be direct about why. From the very beginning, even in our first meetings with Yurushka, my goal has always been to make the smartest financial decisions for both of us and the estate we leave for our kids. I feel like you knew there was a better way to handle this equalization payment, and I ended up being played. Like this was just another point on the scoreboard.

You and I could structure this in a way that didn't send a huge portion of our money to the government in taxes—money that could have been used for Mac and AD. This is your area of expertise. It's your career. Throughout our marriage, I contributed by bringing in large numbers, and you managed those numbers wisely. I always trusted you to act in the best interest of the family, and I feel like that trust wasn't reciprocated when it came to dividing things up.

I understand what the mediation document says, but I'm asking—after all the effort I've made to keep you in the house, pay off the HELOC, and ensure stability for everyone if we can reconsider the strategy to achieve the liquidity you need without sending unnecessary money to the IRS. The kids would benefit far more from those funds being used for their education, therapy, or future security.

I'm not trying to re-litigate but to appeal to values I hope we share: making the best decisions for the kids and preserving what we've worked so hard to build. I hope you'll consider this and work with me to find a better solution for us all that does not impact you. The inability to even have this discussion adds to the frustration so I hope we can do better for our long term health. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Jan 1 if I sell in 2024 makes it immaterial. Correct?

Then it is simply a semantics game we are playing. The point is to move the tax hit to save the extra 7k.

If you are unwilling to wait for the sale on Jan 1 to clear and get your check, I think the discussion is over.

Is that correct?

On 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account . That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
Equalization Payment: $300,000
Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $412,739 at 37%
Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%
Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000
Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings
Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today
For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)

Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 121 of 287

Sent: 12/12/2024 at 04:19 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

And tbh- it's more frustrating because we could not ever talk, even as I practically begged you at ADs basketball game. I approached you in the gym and asked you. Then after. It's in OFW. I tried so hard V.

And per below I was told that you were not asking for spousal support. I didn't refuse it. I did not even counter on your last offer for child support, I said it's not worth it "I want her to have it for the kids."

I have agreed to pay for Max's medical- no questions. And asked for clarity on the other bills. Then paid the ones that were clear to me already. And I offered to help your burn by 1k a month with the HELOC.

What is getting lost in translation? I have said this will happen with lawyers as the go between since last year. Why would we turn over every detail to hired guns? Come on Christine, please work with me.

What we are doing does not work. It never has. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 03:57 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Well why don't we both stop and figure out what preserves Max and Adrian's well being. I can make some proposals that don't impact you negatively.

And if you think that my side has the wherewithal to do what you do, I'll just let that go. Is Natalie going to GPM product teams to bring in seven figures?

Let's stop and work together. That is all I was asking. But we can't even have a conversation. I offered twice to help on House and HELOC. Unprompted.

Should we have a discussion? That's all I'm asking.

On 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

This is frustrating to receive.

It was proposed by your side to structure this way, unprompted by me. There was a trade off.

You spent 170k more than me while unemployed. Refused to pay me maintenance and argued for small child support, refusing to pay bills owed including max medical. I'm in the red every month.

On 12/12/2024 at 09:32 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

So this entire situation has been incredibly frustrating for me, and I want to be direct about why. From the very beginning, even in our first meetings with Yurushka, my goal has always been to make the smartest financial decisions for both of us and the estate we leave for our kids. I feel like you knew there was a better way to handle this equalization payment, and I ended up being played. Like this was just another point on the scoreboard.

You and I could structure this in a way that didn't send a huge portion of our money to the government in taxes—money that could have been used for Mac and AD. This is your area of expertise. It's your career. Throughout our marriage, I contributed by bringing in large numbers, and you managed those numbers wisely. I always trusted you to act in the best interest of the family, and I feel like that trust wasn't reciprocated when it came to dividing things up.

I understand what the mediation document says, but I'm asking—after all the effort I've made to keep you in the house, pay off the HELOC, and ensure stability for everyone if we can reconsider the strategy to achieve the liquidity you need without sending unnecessary money to the IRS. The kids would benefit far more from those funds being used for their education, therapy, or future security.

I'm not trying to re-litigate but to appeal to values I hope we share: making the best decisions for the kids and preserving what we've worked so hard to build. I hope you'll consider this and work with me to find a better solution for us all that does not impact you. The inability to even have this discussion adds to the frustration so I hope we can do better for our long term health. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Jan 1 if I sell in 2024 makes it immaterial. Correct?

Then it is simply a semantics game we are playing. The point is to move the tax hit to save the extra 7k.

If you are unwilling to wait for the sale on Jan 1 to clear and get your check, I think the discussion is over.

Is that correct?

On 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account.

That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
 Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
 Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
 Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
 Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
 Equalization Payment: $300,000
 Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
 Remaining $412,739 at 37%
 Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
 Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
 Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
 Remaining $112,739 at 37%
 Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000
 Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings
 Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today

For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 122 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)
Subject: Re: Health Insurance

Ahh ok. I'll look.

Reimbursements?

On 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:24 AM)

Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I'm talking about Starbucks

On 12/12/2024 at 03:34 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM)

Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I don't have your msft Premera Health card.

Did you submit reimbursements yet?

On 12/12/2024 at 02:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:33 PM)

Subject: Health Insurance

Can I get the card or at least the numbers till I get a card for SBux insurance. Funny to think that is why you made me go to work for Microsoft more than two decades ago. Who knew...

Message 123 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 07:36 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 08:58 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Max medical still outstanding. I've sent it multiple times now.

The kids health insurance and your portion has been outstanding since August. I'll send it again.

You just asked for Sbux insurance numbers. I'm paying full cost of your insurance through my payroll deductions, and you've refused to pay me back.

You decided the inheritance from my parents was yours plus the cash gifts they sent last year which you were spending on face and hair treatments, funding your fancy dinners and trip to Bali. I'm sure you won't be sending me anything you receive from your side as inheritance in the future.

I couldn't ask for spousal as you had refused to work. First it was retired then voluntarily unemployed.

I asked for larger share of assets. You said no.

I asked for larger child support. You said no.

I asked you bear your own spend last year and I bear mine, and you said no. I had to cover your 170k excess for hair treatments, 1k dinners, trip to Bali.

"Gobsmacked" right?

On 12/12/2024 at 04:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

And tbh- it's more frustrating because we could not ever talk, even as I practically begged you at ADs basketball game. I approached you in the gym and asked you. Then after. It's in OFW. I tried so hard V.

And per below I was told that you were not asking for spousal support. I didn't refuse it. I did not even counter on your last offer for child support, I said it's not worth it "I want her to have it for the kids."

I have agreed to pay for Max's medical- no questions. And asked for clarity on the other bills. Then paid the ones that were clear to me already. And I offered to help your burn by 1k a month with the HELOC.

What is getting lost in translation? I have said this will happen with lawyers as the go between since last year. Why would we turn over every detail to hired guns? Come on Christine, please work with me.

What we are doing does not work. It never has. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 03:57 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Well why don't we both stop and figure out what preserves Max and Adrian's well being. I can make some proposals that don't impact you negatively.

And if you think that my side has the wherewithal to do what you do, I'll just let that go. Is Natalie going to GPM product teams to bring in seven figures?

Let's stop and work together. That is all I was asking. But we can't even have a conversation. I offered twice to help on House and HELOC. Unprompted.

Should we have a discussion? That's all I'm asking.

On 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

This is frustrating to receive.

It was proposed by your side to structure this way, unprompted by me. There was a trade off.

You spent 170k more than me while unemployed . Refused to pay me maintenance and argued for small child support, refusing to pay bills owed including max medical. I'm in the red every month.

On 12/12/2024 at 09:32 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 01:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

So this entire situation has been incredibly frustrating for me, and I want to be direct about why. From the very beginning, even in our first meetings with Yurushka, my goal has always been to make the smartest financial decisions for both of us and the estate we leave for our kids. I feel like you knew there was a better way to handle this equalization payment, and I ended up being played. Like this was just another point on the scoreboard.

You and I could structure this in a way that didn't send a huge portion of our money to the government in taxes—money that could have been used for Mac and AD. This is your area of expertise. It's your career. Throughout our marriage, I contributed by bringing in large numbers, and you managed those numbers wisely. I always trusted you to act in the best interest of the family, and I feel like that trust wasn't reciprocated when it came to dividing things up.

I understand what the mediation document says, but I'm asking—after all the effort I've made to keep you in the house, pay off the HELOC, and ensure stability for everyone if we can reconsider the strategy to achieve the liquidity you need without sending unnecessary money to the IRS. The kids would benefit far more from those funds being used for their education, therapy, or future security.

I'm not trying to re-litigate but to appeal to values I hope we share: making the best decisions for the kids and preserving what we've worked so hard to build. I hope you'll consider this and work with me to find a better solution for us all that does not impact you. The inability to even have this discussion adds to the frustration so I hope we can do better for our long term health. >31

On 12/12/2024 at 08:44 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:51 PM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Jan 1 if I sell in 2024 makes it immaterial. Correct?

Then it is simply a semantics game we are playing. The point is to move the tax hit to save the extra 7k.

If you are unwilling to wait for the sale on Jan 1 to clear and get your check, I think the discussion is over.

Is that correct?

On 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 08:40 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

If you go into Fidelity, you can generate your statement for taxable gain/loss on your stock sales both in msft account and individual account . That will be your liability for capital gains. We will split the capital loss in jt fidelity account which is about 70k.

In mediation, you had option to transfer some of your 401k to equalize me. Your 401k continues to appreciate and you have benefited from those gains since oct 31 and I have not, but decided instead to give me cash immediately which our side assumed was factored into your offer but that was speculation on our part. By doing so you would bear those capital gains from resulting stock sales to generate the cash. That was the trade off that we speculated you did. You kept gains in 401k but took hit on capital gains on sale.

I agreed to Jan 1, but that also means you need to have that cash ready that date. I assumed you would need to sell stock prior to that.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 07:03 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I am.

Our agreement for 2024, even though we file joint, we pay taxes based on what issued to us.

I'll pay on my w2 and get credit for any withholding, my capital gains from my stock sales, and will take my share of capital losses from the jt fidelity.

You will pay on your unemployment income, deferred comp income, capital gains from the fidelity msft account and losses from jt account.

Washington state has capital gains tax for amounts greater than 250k as well for this and next year.

That might factor into your calc for next year once we sell the home.

On 12/12/2024 at 06:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:51 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have all the stock sales (I'll share in email).

It's the cost basis that I need to figure out.

Are you open to the payment a day later?

On 12/12/2024 at 06:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

I have some math I'll share later today.

On 12/11/2024 at 10:06 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 06:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity

Specific to the 300k... I am running some numbers.

Today we are in the 35% bracket. I need to sell 200k to pay off everything and move things around. Then, if I sell the 300K, we will push to the next bracket, and our tax bill will go up. Below is my calculation based on that.

<<Caveat: I know I am mixing annual income with realized gains and need to distinguish:>>

- Ordinary Income (Your salary: $226,000)
- Capital Gains (which are taxed differently)
- The equalization payment tax treatment
- Tax rate on past sales based on cost basis

But before I do this, will you even consider a "Jan 01" sale instead if it saves us some money?

CURRENT 2024 INCOME & PROJECTIONS

Base Income:

Christine's Income: $226,000
Documented Stock Sales: $220,698.70
Estimated Gains (70%): $154,489
Current Total: $380,489 + $226,000 = $606,489

SCENARIO A - DECEMBER 2024 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Sales Needed for Me: $200,000
Equalization Payment: $300,000
Final Total: $1,106,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $412,739 at 37%
Additional Tax at 37% vs 35%: $8,255

SCENARIO B - JANUARY 2025 PAYMENT

Total Income Calculation:

Current Total: $606,489
Additional Sales Needed: $200,000
Final Total: $806,489

Tax Bracket Breakdown:

First $693,750 at graduated rates through 35%
Remaining $112,739 at 37%
Reduces amount in highest bracket by $300,000

NET TAX IMPACT:

Difference in amount taxed at 37%: $300,000
Tax Savings: $$300,000 \times (37\% - 35\%) = $6,000$ direct savings
Plus tax deferral benefit on full $300,000 payment

On 12/10/2024 at 10:21 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 10:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Safeco/Fidelity
Attachments: Safeco.jpg (64 KB)

Notes below. Thanks for the heads up.

Safeco-

For the 12th, I deposited $756.50 today
For the 02nd, I deposited $756.50 today

BofA-

I think the number left for me after those is anything above $250. If that is incorrect, please let me know. I realize I still have some things that pull from that, so I did not want to yank mine yet.

$300k-

I planned on hitting my deadline, but if I can do something to help you, I'll come in on a different day. I am more than happy to see how I can help you.

On 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 09:52 AM)
Subject: Safeco/Fidelity

Safeco payment of 756.50 is due on the 12th and will pull from the jt Bank of America account. I just deposited my portion of 225. Can you do your portion of 532?

The next payment will be due on Jan 2.

I want to make sure there is sufficient funds for check for Max's passport clears.

Fidelity. I saw the split of msft account. I looked and there was indeed a deposit of additional msft shares on Dec 2. Let me come back on the cash balance and if we use to settle HELOC as you suggest.

Your cash transfer to me of approx 300k is due by end of year. Do you have a sense if I will receive that earlier? I'm trying to navigate if I sell stock now to pay bills or just wait for the cash.

Message 124 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)
Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 125 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM)
Subject: Fidelity

I saw I got 9836 transferred into my fidelity account. Was it supposed to be 9986, if we split 19972? I think it was less because of your hair debit card purchase of 299.

I also saw there was a dividend from msft come into the fidelity msft account.

Can you split the dividend of 2892 52% 48%? and transfer to my account so I would receive 1,503.

Thank you!

Message 126 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 09:34 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Can you give me a ring?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM)
Subject: Fidelity

I saw I got 9836 transferred into my fidelity account. Was it supposed to be 9986, if we split 19972? I think it was less because of your hair debit card purchase of 299.

I also saw there was a dividend from msft come into the fidelity msft account.

Can you split the dividend of 2892 52% 48%? and transfer to my account so I would receive 1,503.

Thank you!

Message 127 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 09:58 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:58 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

I'm in back to back until noon. Does that work?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Can you give me a ring?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM)
Subject: Fidelity

I saw I got 9836 transferred into my fidelity account. Was it supposed to be 9986, if we split 19972? I think it was less because of your hair debit card purchase of 299.

I also saw there was a dividend from msft come into the fidelity msft account.

Can you split the dividend of 2892 52% 48%? and transfer to my account so I would receive 1,503.

Thank you!

Message 128 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 09:59 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 10:43 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Sure thing.

On 12/13/2024 at 09:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:58 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

I'm in back to back until noon. Does that work?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Can you give me a ring?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM)
Subject: Fidelity

I saw I got 9836 transferred into my fidelity account. Was it supposed to be 9986, if we split 19972? I think it was less because of your hair debit card purchase of 299.

I also saw there was a dividend from msft come into the fidelity msft account.

Can you split the dividend of 2892 52% 48%? and transfer to my account so I would receive 1,503.

Thank you!

Message 129 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)
Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 130 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 02:48 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:07 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Notes sent to email. Let me know if see anything you disagree with. If you need ton link to this convo for record keeping, feel free to print to pdf and attach.

I can't thank you enough for just picking up the phone and working with a common sense approach to solving our issues. Please consider the >31 idea

On 12/13/2024 at 09:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 10:43 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Sure thing.

On 12/13/2024 at 09:58 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:58 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

I'm in back to back until noon. Does that work?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity

Can you give me a ring?

On 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:33 AM)
Subject: Fidelity

I saw I got 9836 transferred into my fidelity account. Was it supposed to be 9986, if we split 19972? I think it was less because of your hair debit card purchase of 299.

I also saw there was a dividend from msft come into the fidelity msft account.

Can you split the dividend of 2892 52% 48%? and transfer to my account so I would receive 1,503.

Thank you!

Message 131 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)
Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 132 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 133 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 134 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 05:07 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM)
Subject: Breakfast
Attachments: IMG_6621.PNG (2 MB)

Do you think they serve it?

Message 135 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 136 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)
Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 137 of 287

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 07:49 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Is that what is arranged?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Sent: 12/13/2024 at 08:19 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Super frustrating not to be able to get answers to easy q's. It's a 30 second call but I wait hours. You know I'm going to respond because I have milliseconds at best, but you do this anyway.

I finally got us on a call today and overcame weeks of bickering and crossed wires. It got the exact outcome you asked for, most in real time. So I can't understand why you don't see that it works for you too.

Is working with me for the kids just beneath you?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Is that what is arranged?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 139 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 01:59 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 06:55 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please be sure to send my packages over. I will never understand the person you became.

On 12/13/2024 at 08:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Super frustrating not to be able to get answers to easy q's. It's a 30 second call but I wait hours. You know I'm going to respond because I have milliseconds at best, but you do this anyway.

I finally got us on a call today and overcame weeks of bickering and crossed wires. It got the exact outcome you asked for, most in real time. So I can't understand why you don't see that it works for you too.

Is working with me for the kids just beneath you?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Is that what is arranged?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 140 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 06:57 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 07:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please stop this.

I will send packages over.

I understand you have Alan for pick up at 9:15am. If that has changed let me know.

On 12/14/2024 at 01:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 06:55 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please be sure to send my packages over. I will never understand the person you became.

On 12/13/2024 at 08:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Super frustrating not to be able to get answers to easy q's. It's a 30 second call but I wait hours. You know I'm going to respond because I have milliseconds at best, but you do this anyway.

I finally got us on a call today and overcame weeks of bickering and crossed wires. It got the exact outcome you asked for, most in real time. So I can't understand why you don't see that it works for you too.

Is working with me for the kids just beneath you?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Is that what is arranged?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 141 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 07:58 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 08:08 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Stop what? Trying to finalize plans so the four people waiting on you know what is happening? Thanks for another day of Morse code and smoke signals.

The pattern I notice is the harder I try to work with you, the more obstruction and difficult you are. Not sure why that is but there is no cracking that nut.

Same stuff, different day. Always

On 12/14/2024 at 06:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 07:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please stop this.

I will send packages over.

I understand you have Alan for pick up at 9:15am. If that has changed let me know.

On 12/14/2024 at 01:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 06:55 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please be sure to send my packages over. I will never understand the person you became.

On 12/13/2024 at 08:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Super frustrating not to be able to get answers to easy q's. It's a 30 second call but I wait hours. You know I'm going to respond because I have milliseconds at best, but you do this anyway.

I finally got us on a call today and overcame weeks of bickering and crossed wires. It got the exact outcome you asked for, most in real time. So I can't understand why you don't see that it works for you too.

Is working with me for the kids just beneath you?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Is that what is arranged?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 142 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 08:09 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 08:10 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Adrian will be ready at 9:15. I did not see a change for Kari today

On 12/14/2024 at 07:58 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 08:08 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Stop what? Trying to finalize plans so the four people waiting on you know what is happening? Thanks for another day of Morse code and smoke signals.

The pattern I notice is the harder I try to work with you, the more obstruction and difficult you are. Not sure why that is but there is no cracking that nut.

Same stuff, different day. Always

On 12/14/2024 at 06:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 07:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please stop this.

I will send packages over.

I understand you have Alan for pick up at 9:15am. If that has changed let me know.

On 12/14/2024 at 01:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 06:55 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Please be sure to send my packages over. I will never understand the person you became.

On 12/13/2024 at 08:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Super frustrating not to be able to get answers to easy q's. It's a 30 second call but I wait hours. You know I'm going to respond because I have milliseconds at best, but you do this anyway.

I finally got us on a call today and overcame weeks of bickering and crossed wires. It got the exact outcome you asked for, most in real time. So I can't understand why you don't see that it works for you too.

Is working with me for the kids just beneath you?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:49 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Is that what is arranged?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:41 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

He should be fine for tomorrow at 9:15 pick up

On 12/13/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:38 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'm getting worried because I don't know how you plan to communicate or plan going into a Friday night again. Kari and Alan, and of course AD and me don't know if plans are changing tomorrow or not.

That puts me in an uncomfortable position to try and nudge you given past history and four people could be impacted. I don't like being the "nudger." That is why I asked for two minutes on the phone.

This makes me feel uncomfortable.

On 12/13/2024 at 03:11 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:40 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I don't know? Doesn't he have Kari? Can we just talk for three minutes and I can let Alan know?

On 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:10 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

What start time? We have an engagement that I asked he be home by 5:30 tomorrow.,

On 12/13/2024 at 02:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 03:06 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Sent an email reply to Kari's mail just to you.

<Rob Moyer to Christine>

Can we sync on AD plans given he feels crummy?

I would rather him start a bit later in the day and still make it than force an early start to make this time here. And go straight into a session. Just hearing that already sounds draining to me.

But if we shift it might work better and we can all couch camp. It's an idea because I don't want a big backlog of makeups which could otherwise be Thurs, tomorrow, maybe Whistler Sat... ?

On 12/13/2024 at 11:47 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Thanks. Should I assume, he will skip SAAS and Local Hoops as well?

On 12/13/2024 at 07:37 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)

Subject: Adrian

Is staying home today.

Message 143 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)

Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 144 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian
Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)
Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 145 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian
Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)
Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 146 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)

Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 147 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)

Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 148 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I was in my therapy session. I saw Alan's text.

Thank you

On 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian
Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)
Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 149 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 03:02 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

You did not answer my question.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I was in my therapy session. I saw Alan's text.

Thank you

On 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian
Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)
Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 150 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 03:12 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:14 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Question for what? Alan asked if he could drop off early and I said yes.

If you are asking about your sarcastic comments... they are abusive.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:09 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

You did not answer my question.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I was in my therapy session. I saw Alan's text.

Thank you

On 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)
Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 151 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 03:28 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I asked if I could coordinate with you based on the plans for the Nutcracker. He is sound asleep. If you are going to pass, I would have him just continue to sleep. If you are going to insist on going anyway, I'd make him sleep take up sooner and send him home. It's a simple discussion that would take 30 seconds if you wanted to do this right instead of swapping 20 OFW emails and then forking with Alan through texts that don't have the info required to make the determination.

Yesterday was largely the same. Kari asked again if she could do Sunday. I asked to plan so perhaps he started later to salvage the day. You refused to answer Kari or even acknowledge the question. I asked for a 30 second conversation. You just went dark with four people waiting on you to check in and when you did you did not have all the facts. Something I could have clarified easily.

I'm sorry that you feel like this is abusive. That reminds me of your accusations at Children's hospital. I don't know how to crack the nut with you, Christine.

If you won't give me any information to optimize for his health vs. your night's plans, I'll make the decision myself. I was just trying to help you both out.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:14 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Question for what? Alan asked if he could drop off early and I said yes.

If you are asking about your sarcastic comments... they are abusive.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

You did not answer my question.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I was in my therapy session. I saw Alan's text.

Thank you

On 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)

Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 03:56 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 04:17 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Obviously I sent him home because AD was super worried about going tonight. And with no info on if that's happening either way, I gave my time up.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I asked if I could coordinate with you based on the plans for the Nutcracker. He is sound asleep. If you are going to pass, I would have him just continue to sleep. If you are going to insist on going anyway, I'd make him sleep take up sooner and send him home. It's a simple discussion that would take 30 seconds if you wanted to do this right instead of swapping 20 OFW emails and then forking with Alan through texts that don't have the info required to make the determination.

Yesterday was largely the same. Kari asked again if she could do Sunday. I asked to plan so perhaps he started later to salvage the day. You refused to answer Kari or even acknowledge the question. I asked for a 30 second conversation. You just went dark with four people waiting on you to check in and when you did you did not have all the facts. Something I could have clarified easily.

I'm sorry that you feel like this is abusive. That reminds me of your accusations at Children's hospital. I don't know how to crack the nut with you, Christine.

If you won't give me any information to optimize for his health vs. your night's plans, I'll make the decision myself. I was just trying to help you both out.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:14 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Question for what? Alan asked if he could drop off early and I said yes.

If you are asking about your sarcastic comments... they are abusive.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

You did not answer my question.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I was in my therapy session. I saw Alan's text.

Thank you

On 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)

Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 153 of 287

Sent: 12/14/2024 at 04:26 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 07:09 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Kari asked in general if Sunday better. You had responded in the affirmative previously this Sat was fine.

Hospital.. you know after you touched my arm I asked you not too, you got upset and followed me. That woman asked if everything was ok. You started talking about our sex life. If you continue to dispute that, you have not learned anything.

Just like three years sober. That's a lie

The fact I did not respond in a 15 min timeframe today was no reason to send these messages.

Nutcracker tickets were purchased prior to rescheduling to today. If you plan to weaponize changes in schedule I accommodated against me, that just sets the stage.

Looking forward to getting the PC on board and hearing from Sound Practices. Did you share my contact information with them already?

On 12/14/2024 at 03:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 04:17 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Obviously I sent him home because AD was super worried about going tonight. And with no info on if that's happening either way, I gave my time up.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Adrian

I asked if I could coordinate with you based on the plans for the Nutcracker. He is sound asleep. If you are going to pass, I would have him just continue to sleep. If you are going to insist on going anyway, I'd make him sleep take up sooner and send him home. It's a simple discussion that would take 30 seconds if you wanted to do this right instead of swapping 20 OFW emails and then forking with Alan through texts that don't have the info required to make the determination.

Yesterday was largely the same. Kari asked again if she could do Sunday. I asked to plan so perhaps he started later to salvage the day. You refused to answer Kari or even acknowledge the question. I asked for a 30 second conversation. You just went dark with four people waiting on you to check in and when you did you did not have all the facts. Something I could have clarified easily.

I'm sorry that you feel like this is abusive. That reminds me of your accusations at Children's hospital. I don't know how to crack the nut with you, Christine.

If you won't give me any information to optimize for his health vs. your night's plans, I'll make the decision myself. I was just trying to help you both out.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:14 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian

Question for what? Alan asked if he could drop off early and I said yes.

If you are asking about your sarcastic comments... they are abusive.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:09 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

You did not answer my question.

On 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I was in my therapy session. I saw Alan's text.

Thank you

On 12/14/2024 at 02:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Alright.

Alan said that you will communicate with him. Should I tell him my thoughts and have him text them to you?

Then you can reply to him and he can tell me. And we just keep that up until we reach an agreement?

Or alternatively, you and Alan can just cut me out as unnecessary. Save some steps and you two parent.

Is this what was decided last week?

On 12/14/2024 at 02:46 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian

I'll just wait to see if I hear from you so we can make the best decision for Adrian. I'd prefer not to use him as a middle man for this. That's unhealthy.

On 12/14/2024 at 02:28 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Adrian

Any way to coordinate with you in case I want AD to get him some rest before the nutcracker?

On 12/14/2024 at 01:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 03:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian
Attachments: IMG_6656.jpg (9 MB)

He's fine. Thanks

On 12/14/2024 at 01:12 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/14/2024 at 01:17 PM)
Subject: Adrian

I saw his tummy started to hurt. Poor guy. We will see about game tomorrow night.

I'll work on some calendar system for him at house.

Message 154 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM)
Subject: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

We split 8 games and this is left over.

If you want them you can pay me for my half - 264

Do you want me to list the tickets and we split the proceeds?

Just LMK.

Message 155 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:47 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:50 PM)
Subject: Re: Health Insurance

sent you a pdf of your SBUX Insurance Card.

Can you share an update of any reimbursements you have submitted?

The ones I have gotten back are so far applied towards deductible so no reimbursement.

On 12/13/2024 at 07:25 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 09:00 AM)
Subject: Re: Health Insurance

Ahh ok. I'll look.

Reimbursements?

On 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/13/2024 at 07:24 AM)
Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I'm talking about Starbucks

On 12/12/2024 at 03:34 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:52 PM)
Subject: Re: Health Insurance

I don't have your msft Premera Health card.

Did you submit reimbursements yet?

On 12/12/2024 at 02:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/12/2024 at 03:33 PM)
Subject: Health Insurance

Can I get the card or at least the numbers till I get a card for SBux insurance. Funny to think that is why you made me go to work for Microsoft more than two decades ago. Who knew...

Message 156 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:50 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I never had a say in a single decision for the Seahawks. I asked to have a discussion about this and you refused. By contrast, I took the time and energy to document every single concern you had and even paid you back in realtime rather than argue with you. And then you gave away tickets that you transferred to me. So now you want $ for tickets that you were able to give away. The contrast in mutual respect and expectations are beyond astounding.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM)
Subject: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

We split 8 games and this is left over.

If you want them you can pay me for my half - 264

Do you want me to list the tickets and we split the proceeds?

Just LMK.

Message 157 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM)
Subject: Basketball

Is the OFW calendar up to date? Will he be there tonight? Just kicking off my usual wild goose chase to figure out what the hell is going on with Adrian's life.

Message 158 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:54 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Yes he will be there.

That last sentence was not needed.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM)
Subject: Basketball

Is the OFW calendar up to date? Will he be there tonight? Just kicking off my usual wild goose chase to figure out what the hell is going on with Adrian's life.

Message 159 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:56 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Should I assume that you will want to give him the impression that you hate me as usual so I should stay on the opposite side of the gym?

On 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:54 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Yes he will be there.

That last sentence was not needed.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM)
Subject: Basketball

Is the OFW calendar up to date? Will he be there tonight? Just kicking off my usual wild goose chase to figure out what the hell is going on with Adrian's life.

Message 160 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 06:04 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

This is abusive Robert.

I asked you to make the FIRST pick for months and months and you refused. I gave you access to the sheet. It is documented. With lawyers and OFW

After you refused to make any movement I split the tickets rather than have them go to waste after you refused to do anything.

After you refused to accept the tickets after you had them in your e-mail for weeks and weeks and day of said you could not use them. That is documented.

I will try sell the tickets.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I never had a say in a single decision for the Seahawks. I asked to have a discussion about this and you refused. By contrast, I took the time and energy to document every single concern you had and even paid you back in realtime rather than argue with you. And then you gave away tickets that you transferred to me. So now you want $ for tickets that you were able to give away. The contrast in mutual respect and expectations are beyond astounding.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM)

Subject: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

We split 8 games and this is left over.

If you want them you can pay me for my half - 264

Do you want me to list the tickets and we split the proceeds?

Just LMK.

Message 161 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 05:59 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 06:04 PM)

Subject: Re: Basketball

Your words to me are so aggressive, then in person you act like you are this nice guy.

The contrast is very scary.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM)

Subject: Re: Basketball

Should I assume that you will want to give him the impression that you hate me as usual so I should stay on the opposite side of the gym?

On 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:54 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Yes he will be there.

That last sentence was not needed.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM)
Subject: Basketball

Is the OFW calendar up to date? Will he be there tonight? Just kicking off my usual wild goose chase to figure out what the hell is going on with Adrian's life.

Message 162 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 06:08 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:46 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I think everything I said is true. What part is abusive?

I tried to get the Fidelity account squared away for months after you violated the court order and took half $1/2 million out. And then instead of just working with me, you decided to go off to Leavenworth to sleep in an Airbnb with folks. That was your priority. That put me in debt and ruined my credit. Your selective memory is troublesome to me.

If you were going to create a standard for us, please apply it evenly .

On 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 06:04 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

This is abusive Robert.

I asked you to make the FIRST pick for months and months and you refused. I gave you access to the sheet. It is documented. With lawyers and OFW

After you refused to make any movement I split the tickets rather than have them go to waste after you refused to do anything.

After you refused to accept the tickets after you had them in your e-mail for weeks and weeks and day of said you could not use them. That is documented.

I will try sell the tickets.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I never had a say in a single decision for the Seahawks. I asked to have a discussion about this and you refused. By contrast, I took the time and energy to document every single concern you had and even paid you back in realtime rather than argue with you. And then you gave away tickets that you transferred to me. So now you want $ for tickets that you were able to give away. The contrast in mutual respect and expectations are beyond astounding.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM)
Subject: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

We split 8 games and this is left over.

If you want them you can pay me for my half - 264

Do you want me to list the tickets and we split the proceeds?

Just LMK.

Message 163 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 06:24 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Christine, I have done everything humanly possible to work with you. If you have a suggestion of something I did not do please bring it up with me.

Our history is replete with me asking to turn the page, do something new together to work on behalf of the kids, at least for their mental health.

I stressed this again on the 10th. But you were busy with girls night as your priority. Then I followed up last week addressing every concern you had.

Now we have 35 response long OFW thread trying to figure out AD's time instead of a 30 second phone call. He missed Kari and went home early.

"Let me think about it," that's all you have said for over a year. My assumption is that it will go for many more years. Nothing changes with you.

I am always nice in front of AD, I don't scream or wag my finger "we are at war." That's not good for him. I want him to love the part of them that is you.

How would you like to handle tonight? Do we show him that we put him first? That's what I would propose. You have seen I do that. Your call.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:59 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 06:04 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Your words to me are so aggressive, then in person you act like you are this nice guy.

The contrast is very scary.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:56 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Should I assume that you will want to give him the impression that you hate me as usual so I should stay on the opposite side of the gym?

On 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:54 PM)
Subject: Re: Basketball

Yes he will be there.

That last sentence was not needed.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:52 PM)
Subject: Basketball

Is the OFW calendar up to date? Will he be there tonight? Just kicking off my usual wild goose chase to figure out what the hell is going on with Adrian's life.

Message 164 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 165 of 287

Sent: 12/15/2024 at 11:50 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 08:50 AM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

"That put me in debt and ruined my credit" - I will give you an opportunity to correct the record.

If not, I will take this as another instance of gaslighting me and ask you share with Sound Practices.

On 12/15/2024 at 06:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:46 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I think everything I said is true. What part is abusive?

I tried to get the Fidelity account squared away for months after you violated the court order and took half $1/2 million out. And then instead of just working with me, you decided to go off to Leavenworth to sleep in an Airbnb with folks. That was your priority. That put me in debt and ruined my credit. Your selective memory is troublesome to me.

If you were going to create a standard for us, please apply it evenly .

On 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 06:04 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

This is abusive Robert.

I asked you to make the FIRST pick for months and months and you refused. I gave you access to the sheet. It is documented. With lawyers and OFW

After you refused to make any movement I split the tickets rather than have them go to waste after you refused to do anything.

After you refused to accept the tickets after you had them in your e-mail for weeks and weeks and day of said you could not use them. That is documented.

I will try sell the tickets.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I never had a say in a single decision for the Seahawks. I asked to have a discussion about this and you refused. By contrast, I took the time and energy to document every single concern you had and even paid you back in realtime rather than argue with you. And then you gave away tickets that you transferred to me. So now you want $ for tickets that you were able to give away. The contrast in mutual respect and expectations are beyond astounding.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM)

Subject: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

We split 8 games and this is left over.

If you want them you can pay me for my half - 264

Do you want me to list the tickets and we split the proceeds?

Just LMK.

Message 166 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 167 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 08:57 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

Please stop fighting with me.

On 12/15/2024 at 11:50 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 08:50 AM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

"That put me in debt and ruined my credit" - I will give you an opportunity to correct the record.

If not, I will take this as another instance of gaslighting me and ask you share with Sound Practices.

On 12/15/2024 at 06:08 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:46 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I think everything I said is true. What part is abusive?

I tried to get the Fidelity account squared away for months after you violated the court order and took half $1/2 million out. And then instead of just working with me, you decided to go off to Leavenworth to sleep in an Airbnb with folks. That was your priority. That put me in debt and ruined my credit. Your selective memory is troublesome to me.

If you were going to create a standard for us, please apply it evenly .

On 12/15/2024 at 05:58 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 06:04 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

This is abusive Robert.

I asked you to make the FIRST pick for months and months and you refused. I gave you access to the sheet. It is documented. With lawyers and OFW

After you refused to make any movement I split the tickets rather than have them go to waste after you refused to do anything.

After you refused to accept the tickets after you had them in your e-mail for weeks and weeks and day of said you could not use them. That is documented.

I will try sell the tickets.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

I never had a say in a single decision for the Seahawks. I asked to have a discussion about this and you refused. By contrast, I took the time and energy to document every single concern you had and even paid you back in realtime rather than argue with you. And then you gave away tickets that you transferred to me. So now you want $ for tickets that you were able to give away. The contrast in mutual respect and expectations are beyond astounding.

On 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 05:46 PM)

Subject: Seahawks Tickets - Dec 22

We split 8 games and this is left over.

If you want them you can pay me for my half - 264

Do you want me to list the tickets and we split the proceeds?

Just LMK.

Message 168 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:18 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:19 AM)

Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I saw Caroline Plumber responded with some notes.

I am talking to Natalie today so this is progress.

On 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 169 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 170 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I'm not talking about the lawyers leading this. I explicitly said that. You seemed offended that I would imply that. Please see below and also reflect on the things we discussed last night.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:18 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:19 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I saw Caroline Plumber responded with some notes.

I am talking to Natalie today so this is progress.

On 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 171 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Actually Caroline suggested something similar if she comes on board so I thought that was helpful.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I'm not talking about the lawyers leading this. I explicitly said that. You seemed offended that I would imply that. Please see below and also reflect on the things we discussed last night.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:18 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:19 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I saw Caroline Plumber responded with some notes.

I am talking to Natalie today so this is progress.

On 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 172 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:26 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:31 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Ok... but please consider what we discussed. We don't need someone else to tell us. Please let me know. We are adults too, and I am glad she agrees, but lets take our life back, make decisions on our own in the interests of our kids, and let them help us rather than letting anyone be the puppet master.

I am only asking:

- Get you in touch with sound practices
- have a pro help us learn how to work together

What is the worst thing that can happen? She says "hey, quit seeking professional help to be better parents?" I think at that point she actually takes over and drives that engagement. That is her job imho.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Actually Caroline suggested something similar if she comes on board so I thought that was helpful.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)

Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I'm not talking about the lawyers leading this. I explicitly said that. You seemed offended that I would imply that. Please see below and also reflect on the things we discussed last night.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:18 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:19 AM)

Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I saw Caroline Plumber responded with some notes.

I am talking to Natalie today so this is progress.

On 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)

Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)

Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 173 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:33 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:41 AM)

Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I am in alignment with getting me in touch with Sound Practices as a start.

I would be interested in seeing what they recommend.

I am also going to talk to my therapist on Wednesday about your proposal.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:31 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Ok... but please consider what we discussed. We don't need someone else to tell us. Please let me know. We are adults too, and I am glad she agrees, but lets take our life back, make decisions on our own in the interests of our kids, and let them help us rather than letting anyone be the puppet master.

I am only asking:

- Get you in touch with sound practices
- have a pro help us learn how to work together

What is the worst thing that can happen? She says "hey, quit seeking professional help to be better parents?" I think at that point she actually takes over and drives that engagement. That is her job imho.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Actually Caroline suggested something similar if she comes on board so I thought that was helpful.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I'm not talking about the lawyers leading this. I explicitly said that. You seemed offended that I would imply that. Please see below and also reflect on the things we discussed last night.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:18 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:19 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I saw Caroline Plumber responded with some notes.

I am talking to Natalie today so this is progress.

On 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 174 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 10:52 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:58 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

That sounds like a fantastic plan. I admire your willingness to work to be better parents and it the side effect is we enjoy each other's company more, I am willing to take that risk. I will reach out to my counselor ASAP.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:33 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:41 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I am in alignment with getting me in touch with Sound Practices as a start.

I would be interested in seeing what they recommend.

I am also going to talk to my therapist on Wednesday about your proposal.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:26 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:31 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Ok... but please consider what we discussed. We don't need someone else to tell us. Please let me know. We are adults too, and I am glad she agrees, but lets take our life back, make decisions on our own in the interests of our kids, and let them help us rather than letting anyone be the puppet master.

I am only asking:

- Get you in touch with sound practices
- have a pro help us learn how to work together

What is the worst thing that can happen? She says "hey, quit seeking professional help to be better parents?" I think at that point she actually takes over and drives that engagement. That is her job imho.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:21 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Actually Caroline suggested something similar if she comes on board so I thought that was helpful.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I'm not talking about the lawyers leading this. I explicitly said that. You seemed offended that I would imply that. Please see below and also reflect on the things we discussed last night.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:18 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:19 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

I saw Caroline Plumber responded with some notes.

I am talking to Natalie today so this is progress.

On 12/16/2024 at 08:52 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:17 AM)
Subject: Re: Breakthrough Moment

Let's do this. Can you share details please.

On 12/15/2024 at 08:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/15/2024 at 11:45 PM)
Subject: Breakthrough Moment

We discussed two parts tonight. One was a prerequisite to starting the second. Neither are stand-alone events. The goal is simple- be better parents.

The presumption is that with professional help, we can either get the tools we need to be better parents by addressing some of our history or never saying another word about it. I'm ok with either option.

But if we do this it opens up a whole new world of joint collaboration together. On things that would make a material impact on our kids future. As a byproduct, we might be happier people too.

I do not want to say what we are agreeing to. I always do that. I want to defer to you. Please let me know what your interpretation is for what we will do to mend old wounds and be better parents now.

We moved mountains on Thur. Let's do it again.

Message 175 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 03:30 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 03:41 PM)
Subject: Parent Coordinator

Whose attorney is holding us up? You got the email this morning and reflected positively on her suggestions.

I got it after lunch, and am not going to pushback given your thoughts. I saw Lisa has tried to move this forward now.

Can we close on this today, please. There is nothing more important we can do at this stage for our kids mental health.

Message 176 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 03:48 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 04:02 PM)
Subject: Re: Parent Coordinator

The ball is in your lawyers court to draft orders.

We Responded at 1pm.

Is this like the finances where you accused me of holding things up because I did not respond in a three hour window, claiming I was making you miss rent and defaulting on bills when in fact you secretly deposited a 25k community check and was paying your bills while I could not?

My mental health is important too Robert. An OFW at 3:30pm harassing me when I did my part and with your lawyers is inappropriate. Your pattern continues.

On 12/16/2024 at 03:30 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 03:41 PM)
Subject: Parent Coordinator

Whose attorney is holding us up? You got the email this morning and reflected positively on her suggestions.

I got it after lunch, and am not going to pushback given your thoughts. I saw Lisa has tried to move this forward now.

Can we close on this today, please. There is nothing more important we can do at this stage for our kids mental health.

Message 177 of 287

Sent: 12/16/2024 at 04:14 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 05:39 PM)
Subject: Re: Parent Coordinator

Steady.... I knew Lisa sent you something around noon. Good to hear you replied at 1:00. That is all I was asking. I'm going to ignore the bluster and accusations. That is not helpful.

All I asked to know was where the bottleneck was so I could apply pressure if it's me. Yet another perfect example of why it's best if we, as Public Enemy, sang "Take the Power Back."

And if you are going to nitpick, I know that it was originally from Rage Against the Machine's debut album and later sampled by PEs by Professor Griff in "Welcome to the Terrordome."

But I hope we can just work together w/o the finger-pointing. Let's partner, V.

On 12/16/2024 at 03:48 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 04:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Parent Coordinator

The ball is in your lawyers court to draft orders.

We Responded at 1pm.

Is this like the finances where you accused me of holding things up because I did not respond in a three hour window, claiming I was making you miss rent and defaulting on bills when in fact you secretly deposited a 25k community check and was paying your bills while I could not?

My mental health is important too Robert. An OFW at 3:30pm harassing me when I did my part and with your lawyers is inappropriate. Your pattern continues.

On 12/16/2024 at 03:30 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 03:41 PM)

Subject: Parent Coordinator

Whose attorney is holding us up? You got the email this morning and reflected positively on her suggestions.

I got it after lunch, and am not going to pushback given your thoughts. I saw Lisa has tried to move this forward now.

Can we close on this today, please. There is nothing more important we can do at this stage for our kids mental health.

Message 178 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 08:46 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM)

Subject: Extra Mortgage Payment

Given timing of when mortgage payment is due and no response, I'll make a payment from my funds then subtract this extra amount I paid towards Condo loan, prior to split of proceeds from the sale of the Condo.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)

Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 179 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 08:57 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:58 AM)
Subject: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you transfer my 52% of the 2,892 msft dividend paid on Dec 12 that remains in the account. 52% is equal to 1,503.

There is less in the account now as you have some personal expenses deducting from it.

If you are still confirming with Lisa if it is 50/50 split versus a 52/48 split, can you transfer 1,446 now then wait for confirmation.

There was also a deposit of 14.959 shares on Dec 2. My share per agreement was to be 52% however fidelity split 50%. Please let me know what Lisa view on this as this will impact future drops.

Thank you

Message 180 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:26 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I thought I already paid you the difference in 52/48? Isn't that explained in the email?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:58 AM)
Subject: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you transfer my 52% of the 2,892 msft dividend paid on Dec 12 that remains in the account. 52% is equal to 1,503.

There is less in the account now as you have some personal expenses deducting from it.

If you are still confirming with Lisa if it is 50/50 split versus a 52/48 split, can you transfer 1,446 now then wait for confirmation.

There was also a deposit of 14.959 shares on Dec 2. My share per agreement was to be 52% however fidelity split 50%. Please let me know what Lisa view on this as this will impact future drops.

Thank you

Message 181 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 09:00 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

How does that work? Is the extra month elective?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM)

Subject: Extra Mortgage Payment

Given timing of when mortgage payment is due and no response, I'll make a payment from my funds then subtract this extra amount I paid towards Condo loan, prior to split of proceeds from the sale of the Condo.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)

Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 182 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you check the msft Fidelity account. The dividend was not transferred out.

On 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:26 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I thought I already paid you the difference in 52/48? Isn't that explained in the email?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:58 AM)

Subject: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you transfer my 52% of the 2,892 msft dividend paid on Dec 12 that remains in the account. 52% is equal to 1,503.

There is less in the account now as you have some personal expenses deducting from it.

If you are still confirming with Lisa if it is 50/50 split versus a 52/48 split, can you transfer 1,446 now then wait for confirmation.

There was also a deposit of 14.959 shares on Dec 2. My share per agreement was to be 52% however fidelity split 50%. Please let me know what Lisa view on this as this will impact future drops.

Thank you

Message 183 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:29 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

No I made a mistake and applied the mortgage payment to the wrong loan so I put in more than I should have to condo loan. It applied to principal balance.

On 12/17/2024 at 09:00 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

How does that work? Is the extra month elective?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM)
Subject: Extra Mortgage Payment

Given timing of when mortgage payment is due and no response, I'll make a payment from my funds then subtract this extra amount I paid towards Condo loan, prior to split of proceeds from the sale of the Condo.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 184 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I know it was not paid out. But I made up the difference in the split with a cash payment. So from there on it should be 50-50. I'm actually really tired of this Christine when I can't get a 30 sec phone call to coordinate for my kid and he has to lose 2 1/2 hours with me. This all seems nuts to me and your attention to detail across platforms is not where it needs to be.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you check the msft Fidelity account. The dividend was not transferred out.

On 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:26 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I thought I already paid you the difference in 52/48? Isn't that explained in the email?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:58 AM)

Subject: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you transfer my 52% of the 2,892 msft dividend paid on Dec 12 that remains in the account. 52% is equal to 1,503.

There is less in the account now as you have some personal expenses deducting from it.

If you are still confirming with Lisa if it is 50/50 split versus a 52/48 split, can you transfer 1,446 now then wait for confirmation.

There was also a deposit of 14.959 shares on Dec 2. My share per agreement was to be 52% however fidelity split 50%. Please let me know what Lisa view on this as this will impact future drops.

Thank you

Message 185 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:32 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:33 AM)

Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

Sorry, I'm not doing this anymore. It's too difficult to understand all your fragmented one off messages.

If you would like to have a productive meeting like normal people like I hosted last Thurs let me know.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)

Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

No I made a mistake and applied the mortgage payment to the wrong loan so I put in more than I should have to condo loan. It applied to principal balance.

On 12/17/2024 at 09:00 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

How does that work? Is the extra month elective?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM)

Subject: Extra Mortgage Payment

Given timing of when mortgage payment is due and no response, I'll make a payment from my funds then subtract this extra amount I paid towards Condo loan, prior to split of proceeds from the sale of the Condo.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)

Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 186 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:33 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:37 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Ok. Then please transfer the 50%.

He was sick. I was in a meeting during your 15 mins that you demanded I respond which was unreasonable.

He missed the nutcracker as FYI. I missed my time with him too. Kids get sick.

Your aggression is scary.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I know it was not paid out. But I made up the difference in the split with a cash payment. So from there on it should be 50-50. I'm actually really tired of this Christine when I can't get a 30 sec phone call to coordinate for my kid and he has to lose 2 1/2 hours with me. This all seems nuts to me and your attention to detail across platforms is not where it needs to be.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you check the msft Fidelity account. The dividend was not transferred out.

On 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:26 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I thought I already paid you the difference in 52/48? Isn't that explained in the email?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:58 AM)

Subject: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you transfer my 52% of the 2,892 msft dividend paid on Dec 12 that remains in the account. 52% is equal to 1,503.

There is less in the account now as you have some personal expenses deducting from it.

If you are still confirming with Lisa if it is 50/50 split versus a 52/48 split, can you transfer 1,446 now then wait for confirmation.

There was also a deposit of 14.959 shares on Dec 2. My share per agreement was to be 52% however fidelity split 50%. Please let me know what Lisa view on this as this will impact future drops.

Thank you

Message 187 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:34 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

This is hostile and you are holding my money hostage. Please transfer money you owe to me.

For the 300k payment due end of year, I am agreeing to Jan 5. Thank you.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:32 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:33 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

Sorry, I'm not doing this anymore. It's too difficult to understand all your fragmented one off messages.

If you would like to have a productive meeting like normal people like I hosted last Thurs let me know.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

No I made a mistake and applied the mortgage payment to the wrong loan so I put in more than I should have to condo loan. It applied to principal balance.

On 12/17/2024 at 09:00 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

How does that work? Is the extra month elective?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM)
Subject: Extra Mortgage Payment

Given timing of when mortgage payment is due and no response, I'll make a payment from my funds then subtract this extra amount I paid towards Condo loan, prior to split of proceeds from the sale of the Condo.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)
Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 188 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:37 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 12:02 PM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

Quit harassing me nonstop and then saying I'm harassing you.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:34 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

This is hostile and you are holding my money hostage. Please transfer money you owe to me.

For the 300k payment due end of year, I am agreeing to Jan 5. Thank you.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:32 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:33 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

Sorry, I'm not doing this anymore. It's too difficult to understand all your fragmented one off messages.

If you would like to have a productive meeting like normal people like I hosted last Thurs let me know.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:29 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

No I made a mistake and applied the mortgage payment to the wrong loan so I put in more than I should have to condo loan. It applied to principal balance.

On 12/17/2024 at 09:00 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)
Subject: Re: Extra Mortgage Payment

How does that work? Is the extra month elective?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM)

Subject: Extra Mortgage Payment

Given timing of when mortgage payment is due and no response, I'll make a payment from my funds then subtract this extra amount I paid towards Condo loan, prior to split of proceeds from the sale of the Condo.

On 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/16/2024 at 10:20 AM)

Subject: Mortgage Payment

I made an error and the mortgage payment I submitted went towards the Condo loan.

Are you OK if I use one month and a portion of the second month of the rental income to cover my mortgage payment?

Message 189 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 10:41 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 12:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Your inattention to details and non stop harassment is scary. You know how much time I spend typing the words "you did not Answer the question" or "can you please reread the email" it's honestly nuts.

On AD- That's a lame excuse for needing a 30 reply long thread instead of a 30 sec phone call. The fact that you sit here and try to make it sound sensible is beyond me. It demonstrates what I deal with.

Quit harassing me.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:33 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:37 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Ok. Then please transfer the 50%.

He was sick. I was in a meeting during your 15 mins that you demanded I respond which was unreasonable.

He missed the nutcracker as FYI. I missed my time with him too. Kids get sick.

Your aggression is scary.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:30 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I know it was not paid out. But I made up the difference in the split with a cash payment. So from there on it should be 50-50. I'm actually really tired of this Christine when I can't get a 30 sec phone call to coordinate for my kid and he has to lose 2 1/2 hours with me. This all seems nuts to me and your attention to detail across platforms is not where it needs to be.

On 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:28 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you check the msft Fidelity account. The dividend was not transferred out.

On 12/17/2024 at 08:59 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 10:26 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

I thought I already paid you the difference in 52/48? Isn't that explained in the email?

On 12/17/2024 at 08:57 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:58 AM)

Subject: Fidelity acct - msft dividends and share deposit

Can you transfer my 52% of the 2,892 msft dividend paid on Dec 12 that remains in the account. 52% is equal to 1,503.

There is less in the account now as you have some personal expenses deducting from it.

If you are still confirming with Lisa if it is 50/50 split versus a 52/48 split, can you transfer 1,446 now then wait for confirmation.

There was also a deposit of 14.959 shares on Dec 2. My share per agreement was to be 52% however fidelity split 50%. Please let me know what Lisa view on this as this will impact future drops.

Thank you

Message 190 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)

Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 191 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 02:56 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:58 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

We have to use OFW.

The running list meeting was derailed for reasons you and I disagree on.

Saying I refused for a year is gaslighting me without context of what was happening.

The DV was real and confirmed.

You have all info and feedback on finances as requested.

On 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)
Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 192 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 02:57 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:57 PM)
Subject: Thursday Dec 19.

Is it bus pick up at 3:45 or school pick at 3 for Adrian?

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 03:09 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Then what did we just do with great effectiveness? We just did it last week. Are we saying that we can never communicate? I'm out if so. I'm not doing this cross platform multi thread, hair on fire confusion. I am making it crystal clear to you that you don't read what I send, ask for the wrong things, and confuse the situation even worse. I simply can't track so I think we may have just screwed ourselves.

The gaslighting is saying you are not secretly involved with Kevin when I have pictures you deny, telling Elsa, Christina, Katherine, Milo when you said you had not, that you will accept the plan Dr Brown gave us, that you will correct the TRO that your attorney admitted was a mistake, agreeing to follow Jennifer's recommendation and then saying your signature means zilch.... I can go on.

If you have a single example that Connor says is DV please send the actual text. That's all I ask. Not you saying it, give me the verbatim example. And him saying that example is DV. That's easy, right?

So I assume if this is all we have- there is no ">31"

On 12/17/2024 at 02:56 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:58 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

We have to use OFW.

The running list meeting was derailed for reasons you and I disagree on.

Saying I refused for a year is gaslighting me without context of what was happening.

The DV was real and confirmed.

You have all info and feedback on finances as requested.

On 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)
Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 194 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 03:41 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Just reviewed what you demanded. That is super unfortunate. As I was trying to turn over a new leaf with you based on the ">31" you and Natalie actually went for a much deeper and more draconian solution. Making it fully impossible to communicate. Unfortunate, given how well OFW only has worked thus far (not at all). But you two sure showed me for trying to help.

It's weird. I sit with you at hoops, talk about all the ways I want to help—I have sent so many ways I tried already—and explain that if you just let me, we can start working together (ex: kid's insurance.) You seemed like you would consider it. We talked about therapy, and you said you would ask your therapist. But now I see this demand. That is what gaslighting is.

well that is that

On 12/17/2024 at 03:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Then what did we just do with great effectiveness? We just did it last week. Are we saying that we can never communicate? I'm out if so. I'm not doing this cross platform multi thread, hair on fire confusion. I am making it crystal clear to you that you don't read what I send, ask for the wrong things, and confuse the situation even worse. I simply can't track so I think we may have just screwed ourselves.

The gaslighting is saying you are not secretly involved with Kevin when I have pictures you deny, telling Elsa, Christina, Katherine, Milo when you said you had not, that you will accept the plan Dr Brown gave us, that you will correct the TRO that your attorney admitted was a mistake, agreeing to follow Jennifer's recommendation and then saying your signature means zilch.... I can go on.

If you have a single example that Connor says is DV please send the actual text. That's all I ask. Not you saying it, give me the verbatim example. And him saying that example is DV. That's easy, right?

So I assume if this is all we have- there is no ">31"

On 12/17/2024 at 02:56 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:58 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

We have to use OFW.

The running list meeting was derailed for reasons you and I disagree on.

Saying I refused for a year is gaslighting me without context of what was happening.

The DV was real and confirmed.

You have all info and feedback on finances as requested.

On 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)

Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 195 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 06:06 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:08 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

Please share this communication with Sound Practices.

Given you have refused to acknowledge any DV and are challenging Connor's report, this terrifies me your state of mind and how you continue to communicate with me.

I will wait for Caroline to onboard.

On 12/17/2024 at 03:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:01 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

Just reviewed what you demanded. That is super unfortunate. As I was trying to turn over a new leaf with you based on the ">31" you and Natalie actually went for a much deeper and more draconian solution. Making it fully impossible to communicate. Unfortunate, given how well OFW only has worked thus far (not at all). But you two sure showed me for trying to help.

It's weird. I sit with you at hoops, talk about all the ways I want to help—I have sent so many ways I tried already—and explain that if you just let me, we can start working together (ex: kid's insurance.) You seemed like you would consider it. We talked about therapy, and you said you would ask your therapist. But now I see this demand. That is what gaslighting is.

well that is that

On 12/17/2024 at 03:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

Then what did we just do with great effectiveness? We just did it last week. Are we saying that we can never communicate? I'm out if so. I'm not doing this cross platform multi thread, hair on fire confusion. I am making it crystal clear to you that you don't read what I send, ask for the wrong things, and confuse the situation even worse. I simply can't track so I think we may have just screwed ourselves.

The gaslighting is saying you are not secretly involved with Kevin when I have pictures you deny, telling Elsa, Christina, Katherine, Milo when you said you had not, that you will accept the plan Dr Brown gave us, that you will correct the TRO that your attorney admitted was a mistake, agreeing to follow Jennifer's recommendation and then saying your signature means zilch.... I can go on.

If you have a single example that Connor says is DV please send the actual text. That's all I ask. Not you saying it, give me the verbatim example. And him saying that example is DV. That's easy, right?

So I assume if this is all we have- there is no ">31"

On 12/17/2024 at 02:56 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:58 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

We have to use OFW.

The running list meeting was derailed for reasons you and I disagree on.

Saying I refused for a year is gaslighting me without context of what was happening.

The DV was real and confirmed.

You have all info and feedback on finances as requested.

On 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)

Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need

the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 196 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 06:16 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:47 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Please do not say things that are untrue attributed to me. I have always acknowledged my behavior. Always, and I made a huge deal out of it at Kari's in the lobby. It baffles me how you rewrite history.

I asked where Connor said there was DV. That's all. It's not a challenge. I just saw him document one side of a discussion w/o saying which specific act was DV. I am honestly asking where he said an act was DV.

I am looking forward to Carolyn as well, and I will agree to all her email rules. They sound like the same ones Dr Brown recommended. And I welcome that. Anything that helps is work better together.

So are you now backing out of exploring >31? as discussed since the 9th now? I thought we had an agreement. Well I know we did, it's here in OFW. I'm only requesting professional help. Is that bad?

On 12/17/2024 at 06:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Please share this communication with Sound Practices.

Given you have refused to acknowledge any DV and are challenging Connor's report, this terrifies me your state of mind and how you continue to communicate with me.

I will wait for Caroline to onboard.

On 12/17/2024 at 03:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Just reviewed what you demanded. That is super unfortunate. As I was trying to turn over a new leaf with you based on the ">31" you and Natalie actually went for a much deeper and more draconian solution. Making it fully impossible to communicate. Unfortunate, given how well OFW only has worked thus far (not at all). But you two sure showed me for trying to help.

It's weird. I sit with you at hoops, talk about all the ways I want to help—I have sent so many ways I tried already—and explain that if you just let me, we can start working together (ex: kid's insurance.) You seemed like you would consider it. We talked about therapy, and you said you would ask your therapist. But now I see this demand. That is what gaslighting is.

well that is that

On 12/17/2024 at 03:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

Then what did we just do with great effectiveness? We just did it last week. Are we saying that we can never communicate? I'm out if so. I'm not doing this cross platform multi thread, hair on fire confusion. I am making it crystal clear to you that you don't read what I send, ask for the wrong things, and confuse the situation even worse. I simply can't track so I think we may have just screwed ourselves.

The gaslighting is saying you are not secretly involved with Kevin when I have pictures you deny, telling Elsa, Christina, Katherine, Milo when you said you had not, that you will accept the plan Dr Brown gave us, that you will correct the TRO that your attorney admitted was a mistake, agreeing to follow Jennifer's recommendation and then saying your signature means zilch.... I can go on.

If you have a single example that Connor says is DV please send the actual text. That's all I ask. Not you saying it, give me the verbatim example. And him saying that example is DV. That's easy, right?

So I assume if this is all we have- there is no ">31"

On 12/17/2024 at 02:56 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:58 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

We have to use OFW.

The running list meeting was derailed for reasons you and I disagree on.

Saying I refused for a year is gaslighting me without context of what was happening.

The DV was real and confirmed.

You have all info and feedback on finances as requested.

On 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)

Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 197 of 287

Sent: 12/17/2024 at 07:17 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:47 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

What really bums me out is this thread was an ask:
"Let's work together." Thats all. And we end up here.

On 12/17/2024 at 06:16 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 08:47 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Please do not say things that are untrue attributed to me. I have always acknowledged my behavior. Always, and I made a huge deal out of it at Kari's in the lobby. It baffles me how you rewrite history.

I asked where Connor said there was DV. That's all. It's not a challenge. I just saw him document one side of a discussion w/o saying which specific act was DV. I am honestly asking where he said an act was DV.

I am looking forward to Carolyn as well, and I will agree to all her email rules. They sound like the same ones Dr Brown recommended. And I welcome that. Anything that helps is work better together.

So are you now backing out of exploring >31? as discussed since the 9th now? I thought we had an agreement. Well I know we did, it's here in OFW. I'm only requesting professional help. Is that bad?

On 12/17/2024 at 06:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Please share this communication with Sound Practices.

Given you have refused to acknowledge any DV and are challenging Connor's report, this terrifies me your state of mind and how you continue to communicate with me.

I will wait for Caroline to onboard.

On 12/17/2024 at 03:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:01 PM)
Subject: Re: Running List

Just reviewed what you demanded. That is super unfortunate. As I was trying to turn over a new leaf with you based on the ">31" you and Natalie actually went for a much deeper and more draconian solution. Making it fully impossible to communicate. Unfortunate, given how well OFW only has worked thus far (not at all). But you two sure showed me for trying to help.

It's weird. I sit with you at hoops, talk about all the ways I want to help—I have sent so many ways I tried already—and explain that if you just let me, we can start working together (ex: kid's insurance.) You seemed like you would consider it. We talked about therapy, and you said you would ask your therapist. But now I see this demand. That is what gaslighting is.

well that is that

On 12/17/2024 at 03:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 06:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

Then what did we just do with great effectiveness? We just did it last week. Are we saying that we can never communicate? I'm out if so. I'm not doing this cross platform multi thread, hair on fire confusion. I am making it crystal clear to you that you don't read what I send, ask for the wrong things, and confuse the situation even worse. I simply can't track so I think we may have just screwed ourselves.

The gaslighting is saying you are not secretly involved with Kevin when I have pictures you deny, telling Elsa, Christina, Katherine, Milo when you said you had not, that you will accept the plan Dr Brown gave us, that you will correct the TRO that your attorney admitted was a mistake, agreeing to follow Jennifer's recommendation and then saying your signature means zilch.... I can go on.

If you have a single example that Connor says is DV please send the actual text. That's all I ask. Not you saying it, give me the verbatim example. And him saying that example is DV. That's easy, right?

So I assume if this is all we have- there is no ">31"

On 12/17/2024 at 02:56 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:58 PM)

Subject: Re: Running List

We have to use OFW.

The running list meeting was derailed for reasons you and I disagree on.

Saying I refused for a year is gaslighting me without context of what was happening.

The DV was real and confirmed.

You have all info and feedback on finances as requested.

On 12/17/2024 at 12:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/17/2024 at 02:41 PM)

Subject: Running List

You have threads and asks across two platforms and multiple entries. Last Thursday I consolidated everything I could find into one place so we could keep our running list format.

Now issues are fragmented again, you are missing key details, and you won't agree to the solution that has worked in the past- the running list meeting. I don't get why, but it's your call.

I want to work with you but I'm not doing it this way. It takes up too much time, energy, and explanation in the back and forth. Please suggest something better than what we know works.

Happy to resolve our issues, but if it is your prerogative to say that you refuse the organized and structured way that works, it is also mine to push back on something that clearly does not.

Our inability to execute even the most mundane tasks even while I say "screw it, I'll pay you to make it go away" is a testament to why we need

the help you have refused for over a year now.

I don't know how many times I have typed up the definition of insanity you used to quote to me, but I know you know it well. I'm asking for something different. I want ">31" instead.

Please stop the crazy. Let's work together.

Message 198 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 07:06 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 07:07 AM)
Subject: Email will erectile dysfunction listings
Attachments: IMG_2466.PNG (229 KB)

Why was this sent to me? Makes me feel uncomfortable.

Message 199 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 200 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 11:16 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

I think we had sent questions to Natalie about you making all the changes that you said I made to our accounts. You were actually kind enough to send the dashboard that showed you were not telling the truth. That made it super simple to sus you out.

As noted, you secretly initiated email changes to both of my email accounts and I immediately noticed that changes had been made that were screen captured. If we should revisit what you did, I'll be happy to ask Lisa to get your answers from Natalie.

Neither account has behaved the same since and I had hoped it was juts an innocent mistake. This seems like more nefarious activity that we should perhaps pursue through legal channels before Carolyn starts. Let me know. I have the digital accounting.

Of course digital proof has never mattered Tumblecreek.

On 12/18/2024 at 07:06 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 07:07 AM)
Subject: Email will erectile dysfunction listings
Attachments: IMG_2466.PNG (229 KB)

Why was this sent to me? Makes me feel uncomfortable.

Message 201 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 202 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

The last statement is harassment and in violation of the TRO.

Your email to me on erectile dysfunction pills violates the TRO as well.

Please go through Lisa and include this OFW message.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:16 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

I think we had sent questions to Natalie about you making all the changes that you said I made to our accounts. You were actually kind enough to send the dashboard that showed you were not telling the truth. That made it super simple to sus you out.

As noted, you secretly initiated email changes to both of my email accounts and I immediately noticed that changes had been made that were screen captured. If we should revisit what you did, I'll be happy to ask Lisa to get your answers from Natalie.

Neither account has behaved the same since and I had hoped it was juts an innocent mistake. This seems like more nefarious activity that we should perhaps pursue through legal channels before Carolyn starts. Let me know. I have the digital accounting.

Of course digital proof has never mattered Tumblecreek.

On 12/18/2024 at 07:06 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 07:07 AM)
Subject: Email will erectile dysfunction listings
Attachments: IMG_2466.PNG (229 KB)

Why was this sent to me? Makes me feel uncomfortable.

Message 203 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 204 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 11:39 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:43 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

So you want me to follow up on the mail we sent you?

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

The last statement is harassment and in violation of the TRO.

Your email to me on erectile dysfunction pills violates the TRO as well.

Please go through Lisa and include this OFW message.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:16 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM)

Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

I think we had sent questions to Natalie about you making all the changes that you said I made to our accounts. You were actually kind enough to send the dashboard that showed you were not telling the truth. That made it super simple to sus you out.

As noted, you secretly initiated email changes to both of my email accounts and I immediately noticed that changes had been made that were screen captured. If we should revisit what you did, I'll be happy to ask Lisa to get your answers from Natalie.

Neither account has behaved the same since and I had hoped it was juts an innocent mistake. This seems like more nefarious activity that we should perhaps pursue through legal channels before Carolyn starts. Let me know. I have the digital accounting.

Of course digital proof has never mattered Tumblecreek.

On 12/18/2024 at 07:06 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 07:07 AM)

Subject: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

Attachments: IMG_2466.PNG (229 KB)

Why was this sent to me? Makes me feel uncomfortable.

Message 205 of 287

Sent: 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrain flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 206 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrain flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 207 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math
Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrain flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 208 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math
Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrain flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 209 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 01:18 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:36 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Ok. Confirming Adrian pick up at 3:45 at bus stop today by Alan.

Math - Adrian and I are reviewing the materials sent by the school over break and I will provide feedback once school starts.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrian flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visiting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge.

Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 210 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 01:42 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Is the partial answer intentional?

You didn't really answer the question. Especially, if you envision a place for me in his life for academic discussions. I did get him into SAAS so maybe that's all you wanted after he got rejected. So let me know.

I hate being shut out my kids lives, but that's your call.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:36 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Ok. Confirming Adrian pick up at 3:45 at bus stop today by Alan.

Math - Adrian and I are reviewing the materials sent by the school over break and I will provide feedback once school starts.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math
Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrian flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visiting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge.

Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 211 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 02:50 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:24 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Just connected with Alan. He had no idea what you scheduled for Adrian today. Fortunately for AD, another child unfortunately was ill. How should I work with you on issues related to him moving forward? Does he know he is coming over here like we discussed with Kari?

I think that you own the calendar. If that was incorrect, my bad. I desperately want to work with you (across all the things you are unilaterally deciding) and keep asking how, but it feels like I can't crack the nut. Open to any advice that shows mutual respect and understanding.

Were you able to speak with your therapist so we could get the green light to work on tools for you and I, like we discussed at hoops? I really can't think of anything that will pay bigger dividends than you and I working together to be better parents. Starting the new year right.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Is the partial answer intentional?

You didn't really answer the question. Especially, if you envision a place for me in his life for academic discussions. I did get him into SAAS so maybe that's all you wanted after he got rejected. So let me know.

I hate being shut out my kids lives, but that's your call.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:36 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Ok. Confirming Adrian pick up at 3:45 at bus stop today by Alan.

Math - Adrian and I are reviewing the materials sent by the school over break and I will provide feedback once school starts.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrian flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 212 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 03:25 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:27 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

You own scheduling with Alan.

On 12/19/2024 at 02:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:24 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Just connected with Alan. He had no idea what you scheduled for Adrian today. Fortunately for AD, another child unfortunately was ill. How should I work with you on issues related to him moving forward? Does he know he is coming over here like we discussed with Kari?

I think that you own the calendar. If that was incorrect, my bad. I desperately want to work with you (across all the things you are unilaterally deciding) and keep asking how, but it feels like I can't crack the nut. Open to any advice that shows mutual respect and understanding.

Were you able to speak with your therapist so we could get the green light to work on tools for you and I, like we discussed at hoops? I really can't think of anything that will pay bigger dividends than you and I working together to be better parents. Starting the new year right.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:56 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Is the partial answer intentional?

You didn't really answer the question. Especially, if you envision a place for me in his life for academic discussions. I did get him into SAAS so maybe that's all you wanted after he got rejected. So let me know.

I hate being shut out my kids lives, but that's your call.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:36 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Ok. Confirming Adrian pick up at 3:45 at bus stop today by Alan.

Math - Adrian and I are reviewing the materials sent by the school over break and I will provide feedback once school starts.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math
Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrian flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 213 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 03:37 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Your answers are intentionally frustrating and incomplete. I'm stepping away from the intended harassment and conclude you have no plans to work together to be better parents as discussed since 12/10

On 12/19/2024 at 03:25 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:27 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

You own scheduling with Alan.

On 12/19/2024 at 02:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:24 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Just connected with Alan. He had no idea what you scheduled for Adrian today. Fortunately for AD, another child unfortunately was ill. How should I work with you on issues related to him moving forward? Does he know he is coming over here like we discussed with Kari?

I think that you own the calendar. If that was incorrect, my bad. I desperately want to work with you (across all the things you are unilaterally deciding) and keep asking how, but it feels like I can't crack the nut. Open to any advice that shows mutual respect and understanding.

Were you able to speak with your therapist so we could get the green light to work on tools for you and I, like we discussed at hoops? I really can't think of anything that will pay bigger dividends than you and I working together to be better parents. Starting the new year right.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:56 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Is the partial answer intentional?

You didn't really answer the question. Especially, if you envision a place for me in his life for academic discussions. I did get him into SAAS so maybe that's all you wanted after he got rejected. So let me know.

I hate being shut out my kids lives, but that's your call.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:36 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Ok. Confirming Adrian pick up at 3:45 at bus stop today by Alan.

Math - Adrian and I are reviewing the materials sent by the school over break and I will provide feedback once school starts.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrain flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)

Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 08:41 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 11:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

I don't know how tonight happened, but if Dec 10th was the biggest night of our lives, I want to make Dec 19th just as significant. Maybe those same planets aligned for us one more time.

So please accept my sincerest apologies for my response to this original email, which surprised me. That is not an excuse- my response was inappropriate and uncalled for. As mentioned, if the original email was sent from me, it was not intentional. I hope you will forgive me for that and my uncalled-for escalation. We have enough history and scar tissue to last a lifetime. I will do my best to cooperate with you and seek to de-escalate rather than inflame moving forward.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:43 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

So you want me to follow up on the mail we sent you?

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

The last statement is harassment and in violation of the TRO.

Your email to me on erectile dysfunction pills violates the TRO as well.

Please go through Lisa and include this OFW message.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:16 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM)
Subject: Re: Email will erectile dysfunction listings

I think we had sent questions to Natalie about you making all the changes that you said I made to our accounts. You were actually kind enough to send the dashboard that showed you were not telling the truth. That made it super simple to suss you out.

As noted, you secretly initiated email changes to both of my email accounts and I immediately noticed that changes had been made that were screen captured. If we should revisit what you did, I'll be happy to ask Lisa to get your answers from Natalie.

Neither account has behaved the same since and I had hoped it was just an innocent mistake. This seems like more nefarious activity that we should perhaps pursue through legal channels before Carolyn starts. Let me know. I have the digital accounting.

Of course digital proof has never mattered Tumblecreek.

On 12/18/2024 at 07:06 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 07:07 AM)
Subject: Email will erectile dysfunction listings
Attachments: IMG_2466.PNG (229 KB)

Why was this sent to me? Makes me feel uncomfortable.

Message 215 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 08:43 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 11:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I think this is something we can pause on till we get a PC. I hope you agree. Looking forward to peaceful cooperation moving forward, especially with anything kid-related. Wishing you well.

On 12/19/2024 at 03:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:49 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Your answers are intentionally frustrating and incomplete. I'm stepping away from the intended harassment and conclude you have no plans to work together to be better parents as discussed since 12/10

On 12/19/2024 at 03:25 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:27 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

You own scheduling with Alan.

On 12/19/2024 at 02:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 03:24 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Just connected with Alan. He had no idea what you scheduled for Adrian today. Fortunately for AD, another child unfortunately was ill. How should I work with you on issues related to him moving forward? Does he know he is coming over here like we discussed with Kari?

I think that you own the calendar. If that was incorrect, my bad. I desperately want to work with you (across all the things you are unilaterally deciding) and keep asking how, but it feels like I can't crack the nut. Open to any advice that shows mutual respect and understanding.

Were you able to speak with your therapist so we could get the green light to work on tools for you and I, like we discussed at hoops? I really can't think of anything that will pay bigger dividends than you and I working together to be better parents. Starting the new year right.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Is the partial answer intentional?

You didn't really answer the question. Especially, if you envision a place for me in his life for academic discussions. I did get him into SAAS so maybe that's all you wanted after he got rejected. So let me know.

I hate being shut out my kids lives, but that's your call.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:36 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Ok. Confirming Adrian pick up at 3:45 at bus stop today by Alan.

Math - Adrian and I are reviewing the materials sent by the school over break and I will provide feedback once school starts.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:14 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Thanks. I have a very long list of things I have not seen a response on. How do we address that since this is a one way street and you refuse to accommodate the way we addressed every issue you had at this exact time last week? Instead, you got all your answers and then said "I'm not doing that."

Adrian is never picked up at school. I pay $125 an hour. I'd prefer to pay that for the time I spend with him.

And given the pressing topic, and one that you refuse to reply to for some reason- can you speak to the math situation and get back to me on that! I see him in less than two hours. It is always this way with you.

On 12/19/2024 at 01:07 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:08 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

Attachments: IMG_2493.PNG (129 KB)

I did not see a response for OFW sent on Dec 17.

On 12/19/2024 at 08:34 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 01:02 PM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

I see Adrian today. I will want to discuss this with him. Are you planning to update me so we can work together or is this another unilateral decision?

On 12/18/2024 at 12:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 07:02 AM)

Subject: Re: Adrian's Math

So I think that you are required to inform me about major educational decisions, such as class placement or pursuing advanced placement, via the Our Family Wizard (OFW) platform.

You should give me at least seven days' notice so that I can provide feedback. After considering my input, then you can then make the final decision based on your authority.

For something like this in the middle of a toxic divorce where I have watched Adrian flail for months emotionally and academically, I don't expect that formality, but I'd like to confer.

Two teachers recently said that Max was getting Fs. Yesterday, we heard AD was not turning in work, and today, we hear that it likely disqualifies him for advanced placement in math.

This is not stuff that happens during school hours. In both cases, it reflects their extracurricular and home life instead. Would you mind sharing the plan to get them on track at home?

I want to partner with you on our messaging and guidance as parents, but I don't want to be overbearing and give them a double whammy. I can also help AD if he is here visting.

Let me know how we can coordinate. It seems like SAAS is doing its part; it's just when they leave and go home that we have the challenge. Let's make those Stanford trips worth something.

thanks in advance on the partnership to be the best parents we can for these guys!

On 12/18/2024 at 11:38 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:44 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Sure. Your saying that his academic choices and whether to peruse advanced placement is none of my concern.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 216 of 287

Sent: 12/19/2024 at 08:48 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/19/2024 at 11:49 PM)
Subject: October Fork

I want to acknowledge that I saw the October comment here and will follow up. It would have been more appropriate to let you know that Lisa (s) has been out all week, but I did not do that. I will look at the email from last Thurs again and see if there are more things I can knock out before her return next week.

Thanks for your patience on this matter. I hope we can turn over a new leaf of peaceful cooperation, especially for the kids. As was the case with trying to keep you all in the house for as long as you like or paying down the HELOC so we could wipe 1k off your burn, I am sincerely trying to help you as well.

On 12/18/2024 at 11:32 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:36 AM)
Subject: Re: Adrian's Marh

Yes please ask Lisa if this is considered a major decision.

Also waiting for Lisa feedback on interpretation on payment of expenses prior to Oct 31, your medical expenses, the 52/48 split of msft vested stock post Nov 1, and outstanding transfer of dividend in Msft account.

Thank you

On 12/18/2024 at 10:49 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/18/2024 at 11:26 AM)
Subject: Adrian's Marh

I thought we were going to discuss decisions before you unilaterally made them for the children.

Should I ask for an interpretation or are you just ignoring our court order again?

Message 217 of 287

Sent: 12/20/2024 at 02:07 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM)
Subject: Signal?

Hey- Given this is all fresh for us and we are starting new, can you let me know if my messages were received with the intent they were sent? I hope so but am always open to feedback if they did not. Thanks!

Message 218 of 287

Sent: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Signal?

Yes received. Thank you.

On 12/20/2024 at 02:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM)
Subject: Signal?

Hey- Given this is all fresh for us and we are starting new, can you let me know if my messages were received with the intent they were sent? I hope so but am always open to feedback if they did not. Thanks!

Message 219 of 287

Sent: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/21/2024 at 02:35 PM)
Subject: Re: Signal?

Thanks!!!

On 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM)
Subject: Re: Signal?

Yes received. Thank you.

On 12/20/2024 at 02:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/20/2024 at 07:08 PM)
Subject: Signal?

Hey- Given this is all fresh for us and we are starting new, can you let me know if my messages were received with the intent they were sent? I hope so but am always open to feedback if they did not. Thanks!

Message 220 of 287

Sent: 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM)
Subject: Alan

Can you confirm dates you have?

I have down 26, 27.

What do you have for after that?

Message 221 of 287

Sent: 12/21/2024 at 02:37 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Alan

Alan said that Sat he should be with me too according to his accounting.

On 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM)
Subject: Alan

Can you confirm dates you have?

I have down 26, 27.

What do you have for after that?

Message 222 of 287

Sent: 12/22/2024 at 12:23 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/22/2024 at 01:19 PM)
Subject: Re: Alan

Since this is three days in a row, I honestly don't think I can afford it at $3k. These are killing me.

I'd like Thursday, skip Friday and bank it for the 45-day hold in the PP, and have Sat as planned.

I'd like to get back to Alan today since this is his holiday too, and I want to be respectful of that.

Thanks!

On 12/21/2024 at 02:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Alan

Alan said that Sat he should be with me too according to his accounting.

On 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM)
Subject: Alan

Can you confirm dates you have?

I have down 26, 27.

What do you have for after that?

Message 223 of 287

Sent: 12/22/2024 at 01:20 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/22/2024 at 01:25 PM)
Subject: Re: Alan

Ok to Thursday 26 and Saturday 28. That works.

On 12/22/2024 at 12:23 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/22/2024 at 01:19 PM)
Subject: Re: Alan

Since this is three days in a row, I honestly don't think I can afford it at $3k. These are killing me.

I'd like Thursday, skip Friday and bank it for the 45-day hold in the PP, and have Sat as planned.

I'd like to get back to Alan today since this is his holiday too, and I want to be respectful of that.

Thanks!

On 12/21/2024 at 02:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Alan

Alan said that Sat he should be with me too according to his accounting.

On 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM)
Subject: Alan

Can you confirm dates you have?

I have down 26, 27.

What do you have for after that?

Message 224 of 287

Sent: 12/22/2024 at 01:27 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/22/2024 at 01:53 PM)
Subject: Re: Alan

Thanks for the reply! I will let him know.

Just something to consider: It might be better if we have the same arrangement we do for Kari and communicate together via email. I think it is basically the same thing.

Something to discuss with the PC.

On 12/22/2024 at 01:20 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/22/2024 at 01:25 PM)
Subject: Re: Alan

Ok to Thursday 26 and Saturday 28. That works.

On 12/22/2024 at 12:23 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/22/2024 at 01:19 PM)
Subject: Re: Alan

Since this is three days in a row, I honestly don't think I can afford it at $3k. These are killing me.

I'd like Thursday, skip Friday and bank it for the 45-day hold in the PP, and have Sat as planned.

I'd like to get back to Alan today since this is his holiday too, and I want to be respectful of that.

Thanks!

On 12/21/2024 at 02:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Alan

Alan said that Sat he should be with me too according to his accounting.

On 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/21/2024 at 02:36 PM)

Subject: Alan

Can you confirm dates you have?

I have down 26, 27.

What do you have for after that?

Message 225 of 287

Sent: 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 226 of 287

Sent: 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 227 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 228 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 229 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 230 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 231 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 233 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 01:25 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Perfect timing!! Thanks so much for the cooperation

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 235 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 236 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 237 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)
Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 238 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Great and yes I reimbursed for kids meal card and updated the account. You will see 358 which includes my Safeco portion.

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 239 of 287

Sent: 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 240 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 242 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 244 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:35 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:35 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Ok I checked BofA for the jt account and still don't see it but perhaps after holidays.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)
Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 245 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Ah... it had to come from Fidelity... to BofA.

That's probably right. I sent the details in email.

I also asked if that was ok but you didn't answer.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:35 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:35 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Ok I checked BofA for the jt account and still don't see it but perhaps after holidays.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 246 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 247 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:39 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I didn't see email. But thank you.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Ah... it had to come from Fidelity... to BofA.

That's probably right. I sent the details in email.

I also asked if that was ok but you didn't answer.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:35 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:35 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Ok I checked BofA for the jt account and still don't see it but perhaps after holidays.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 248 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 249 of 287

Sent: 12/25/2024 at 04:41 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Ok... I assumed I would not see either of them

On 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 250 of 287

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)
Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 251 of 287

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

OK - I did not ask Elsa or Max about their plans.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Ok... I assumed I would not see either of them

On 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 252 of 287

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see what's up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)
Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 253 of 287

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:46 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

How do I Venmo Elsa?

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

OK - I did not ask Elsa or Max about their plans.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Ok... I assumed I would not see either of them

On 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 01:49 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:49 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I asked her to send the details to you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:46 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

How do I Venmo Elsa?

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

OK - I did not ask Elsa or Max about their plans.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Ok... I assumed I would not see either of them

On 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 255 of 287

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026
Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my portion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see what's up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent details in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)
Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 256 of 287

Sent: 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026
Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my portion in already, so there needs to be that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see what's up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transferred the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent details in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comments please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 257 of 287

Sent: 12/27/2024 at 07:10 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I have raised an issue with the effectiveness of our communications since we can't keep Fidelity, BofA, various school, therapy, or compliance folks always on the thread for personal stuff. You did not respond.

Should I assume that moving forward we just go through lawyers from now on? My hope from the discussion on the 19th was we would begin to work together a little more cooperatively. Let me know.

On 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026

Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my portion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see what's up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Sent: 12/27/2024 at 09:34 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Thanks. I was able to send to her. Do you mind confirming that Max got his too? It's a lot of cash so want to be sure it landed safely. Thanks.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:49 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:49 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I asked her to send the details to you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:46 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

How do I Venmo Elsa?

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

OK - I did not ask Elsa or Max about their plans.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Ok... I assumed I would not see either of them

On 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)

Subject: No Response Requested

Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 259 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:47 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Yes he got it. Thank you

On 12/27/2024 at 09:34 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Thanks. I was able to send to her. Do you mind confirming that Max got his too? It's a lot of cash so want to be sure it landed safely. Thanks.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:49 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:49 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I asked her to send the details to you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:46 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

How do I Venmo Elsa?

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

OK - I did not ask Elsa or Max about their plans.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:41 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:28 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Ok... I assumed I would not see either of them

On 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:40 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Cash also works. Sometimes something hand has a different effect.

I'll ask and get back to you. He's napping.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:38 PM)

Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Can you let me know.

What do I need, juts the phone number?

On 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:37 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Elsa has Venmo.

Max... not sure if he has Apple Cash. I'll need to ask.

On 12/25/2024 at 04:22 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

What's the best way to send Elsa and Max a little Xmas money? Venmo or Apple Cash

On 12/24/2024 at 01:21 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:24 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'll call you quickly.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:44 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Hey- whatever we decide on, this is what we agreed to stop doing if there was a conversation that needed clarity. Can we please do as we agreed and have a conversation to either agree or agree to disagree? I'm trying to understand the situation and don't yet.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:31 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 01:20 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So I'm not sure i understand. Of course we celebrate separately. We were asked to do that last year because Debbie. And I did all the Santa gifts for us and gave you the credit. If we are still doing that and it's your turn that's great. What am I missing? I'd prefer we talk like we agreed to last week.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:13 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:28 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I'm not fighting. The comment for new traditions is in reference to change in celebrating separately.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:07 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:11 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

Uh... ok/ Were you going to tell me about the new traditions? I did ask ahead of time and gave you the opportunity to tell me a couple weeks back.

On 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 12:05 PM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

I did regular gifts from me.

Starting new traditions.

On 12/24/2024 at 09:57 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 11:11 AM)
Subject: Re: No Response Requested

So....

I am hoping that since I did all of our Santa gifts last year and we never said anything different, I can piggyback off you this year. I brought it up, and I think you said you would get back to me, but I have not seen anything.

I don't see Max or Elsa at all, and I have not had time to discuss this with AD. Last year, we made our own ornaments, decorated, and had a sleepover. This year, there is nothing—not even a tree. I just don't exist anymore.

I hope you and I work together better in the new year. Can you please let me know?

Merry Christmas to the Moyer's. So weird not to be in the family that bears my name.

robert

On 12/24/2023 at 08:13 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2023 at 08:28 PM)
Subject: No Response Requested
Attachments: IMG_0622.jpg (5 MB)

Just wanted to let you know we did good.

Some awesome stocking stuffers from Mom & Dad. A really cool robotics set (1 each) from Mom & Dad. And then their big gift from Santa as we planned! Really think they should enjoy their gifts this year!

Hope you are having an awesome time!

Message 260 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 08:46 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

OFW is mode of communication between you and I as I understand.

On 12/27/2024 at 07:10 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I have raised an issue with the effectiveness of our communications since we can't keep Fidelity, BofA, various school, therapy, or compliance folks always on the thread for personal stuff. You did not respond.

Should I assume that moving forward we just go through lawyers from now on? My hope from the discussion on the 19th was we would begin to work together a little more cooperatively. Let me know.

On 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026

Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my potion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see whats up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)
Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 261 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 08:56 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I thought we talked on the 19th.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

OFW is mode of communication between you and I as I understand.

On 12/27/2024 at 07:10 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I have raised an issue with the effectiveness of our communications since we can't keep Fidelity, BofA, various school, therapy, or compliance folks always on the thread for personal stuff. You did not respond.

Should I assume that moving forward we just go through lawyers from now on? My hope from the discussion on the 19th was we would begin to work together a little more cooperatively. Let me know.

On 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026
Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my portion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see what's up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent details in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 262 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Yes I can initiate is how I understand.

I don't want to fight.

The dividend has not landed in my BofA yet.

Reminder Safeco is due early Jan. My portion is in jt BofA but it will bounce as you loved your funds out.

Gardener came for weeding and I will pay him cash of 203 today. Your portion is 100.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:56 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:57 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I thought we talked on the 19th.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:47 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

OFW is mode of communication between you and I as I understand.

On 12/27/2024 at 07:10 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I have raised an issue with the effectiveness of our communications since we can't keep Fidelity, BofA, various school, therapy, or compliance folks always on the thread for personal stuff. You did not respond.

Should I assume that moving forward we just go through lawyers from now on? My hope from the discussion on the 19th was we would begin to work together a little more cooperatively. Let me know.

On 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026

Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my potion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see whats up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 263 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know". Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I sent you all the details.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Yes I can initiate is how I understand.

I don't want to fight.

The dividend has not landed in my BofA yet.

Reminder Safeco is due early Jan. My portion is in jt BofA but it will bounce as you loved your funds out.

Gardener came for weeding and I will pay him cash of 203 today. Your portion is 100.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:56 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I thought we talked on the 19th.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

OFW is mode of communication between you and I as I understand.

On 12/27/2024 at 07:10 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I have raised an issue with the effectiveness of our communications since we can't keep Fidelity, BofA, various school, therapy, or compliance folks always on the thread for personal stuff. You did not respond.

Should I assume that moving forward we just go through lawyers from now on? My hope from the discussion on the 19th was we would begin to work together a little more cooperatively. Let me know.

On 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026

Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my portion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see what's up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 265 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know " Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 266 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimberleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was “a regular day so count on it”. To which he replied “I know but Mom said you won’t reply so we don’t know “ Let’s work on that. It’s not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don’t think it’s good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can’t so let’s make the best of it for him.

Message 267 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 09:47 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

In OFW per stipulation? Just screen shot and send again here.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I sent you all the details.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Yes I can initiate is how I understand.

I don’t want to fight.

The dividend has not landed in my BofA yet.

Reminder Safeco is due early Jan. My portion is in jt BofA but it will bounce as you loved your funds out.

Gardener came for weeding and I will pay him cash of 203 today. Your portion is 100.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:56 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:57 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I thought we talked on the 19th.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:46 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:47 AM)
Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

OFW is mode of communication between you and I as I understand.

On 12/27/2024 at 07:10 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:45 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I have raised an issue with the effectiveness of our communications since we can't keep Fidelity, BofA, various school, therapy, or compliance folks always on the thread for personal stuff. You did not respond.

Should I assume that moving forward we just go through lawyers from now on? My hope from the discussion on the 19th was we would begin to work together a little more cooperatively. Let me know.

On 12/26/2024 at 02:09 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/27/2024 at 03:30 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I sent the email confirmations from the origin intuitions earlier trying to show what I had done. Then this landed. Going back and forth across platforms is very hard and will always be fraught with delays and mistakes. And we can't move Fidelity or BofA to OFW.

I will rarely get this right across platforms, accounts, credits, debits,, etc.. I am just letting you know in the most constructive way possible, that this is super frustrating, hard to track and will always increase unnecessary friction between you and I till Adrian is 18 years old.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:52 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:53 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

My BofA is

Account: 13833331026

Routing: 125000024

I see 500 go in, your cell phone deduct, then transfer out of 1,504.

SafeCo will have an automatic deduction of 756.50 early January - I transferred my potion in already, so there needs to have that balance as a minimum.

Thank you.

On 12/26/2024 at 01:33 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:45 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

So I put $500 in this AM because it looked overdrawn. I'll try to see whats up but any forensic records you have would be helpful. I would swear I got it right but maybe not. If you share your fidelity and BofA account numbers I can set those up.. but now that I say that I think I have the BofA already because I transfer the 2.1k I'm a little lost. I'll work on this

On 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/26/2024 at 01:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It looks like it transferred out of the Jt account and not in.

On 12/25/2024 at 02:19 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 04:29 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

It's in the kids BofA

On 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Thank you. I did not see it yet but will look out.

On 12/24/2024 at 03:00 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/25/2024 at 02:18 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Transferred to the kid's account so you could grab it whenever you want. Sent deats in email.

BTW- If you are going to hold me in contempt for simple comms please tell me

On 12/24/2024 at 02:48 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Sorry, I know what the cash number is- $1,504

I was looking for your bank or fidelity numbers

On 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:59 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

I'll do it now. What's the number?

On 12/24/2024 at 02:39 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/24/2024 at 02:42 PM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Confirming you will be transferring the 52%.

On 12/23/2024 at 08:23 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:56 AM)

Subject: Re: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

Happy to do that. I'm not fighting over the 52 vs 50

Thanks!

On 12/22/2024 at 02:51 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/23/2024 at 08:21 AM)

Subject: Fidelity - MSFT Dividend transfer

A dividend for msft stock was posted to the Fidelity account on Dec 22 in amount of 2,892.

Per agreement, my 52% portion (equal 1,504) should be transferred within 10 days. Could you send that over?

If you are still in disagreement if 50 versus 52%, at minimum you can transfer the 50% of 1,446 until you confirm with Lisa.

Thank you.

Message 268 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 10:32 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 10:33 AM)

Subject: Nana Christmas cards

Boys received their Christmas cards with a 100 check from Nana. Can you remind Adrian to send a thank you text? Max did his TY.

Message 269 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 10:36 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 10:49 AM)

Subject: Seahawks ticket sale

Attachments: IMG_2775.PNG (205 KB)

Tickets sold and received 444.23 after commission for last Seahawks game.

I'll deduct $100 for your share of the gardener and transfer the balance of 122.3 to you for your half.

Can you send me you BofA details?

Message 270 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 10:48 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Christine,

I agree that professional guidance on addressing these situations is valuable. But I also note that your response feels threatening and almost like retaliation for raising several specific concerns about Adrian's well-being and our co-parenting communication. I asked you about:

- Today's 40-minute delay which impacts my limited time with Adrian and has significant financial implications at $1k a day.
- The portrayal to Adrian that I "won't reply" about visits misrepresents my efforts and damages my relationship with him.
- Emergency communication protocols are a standard safety consideration, and you allow for no way to accommodate them.
- The concerning shift in Adrian's view of MIT from pride to mockery between visits suggests harmful negative influences on him.

Please maintain our message thread rather than forking and creating new ones. Forking threads can misrepresent the context and chronology of our communication, which has happened a lot since this began. I don't think that is helpful to either of us when seeking helpful advice.

Looking forward to understanding a healthier way to address the points above, as they were not addressed in a constructive way.

robert

On 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimperleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know". Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 271 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 10:53 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

I am going to ask that you not start deducting things for me unilaterally. Please deposit the amount that I am owed and I will handle my financial affairs. You are not my accountant anymore. Thanks.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:36 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 10:49 AM)

Subject: Seahawks ticket sale

Attachments: IMG_2775.PNG (205 KB)

Tickets sold and received 444.23 after commission for last Seahawks game.

I'll deduct $100 for your share of the gardener and transfer the balance of 122.3 to you for your half.

Can you send me you BofA details?

Message 272 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 11:05 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Attachments: IMG_6961.PNG (300 KB)

This helps with context as it's been something I've tried to work with you on for quite a while. Thanks!

On 12/28/2024 at 10:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Christine,

I agree that professional guidance on addressing these situations is valuable. But I also note that your response feels threatening and almost like retaliation for raising several specific concerns about Adrian's well-being and our co-parenting communication. I asked you about:

- Today's 40-minute delay which impacts my limited time with Adrian and has significant financial implications at $1k a day.
- The portrayal to Adrian that I "won't reply" about visits misrepresents my efforts and damages my relationship with him.
- Emergency communication protocols are a standard safety consideration, and you allow for no way to accommodate them.
- The concerning shift in Adrian's view of MIT from pride to mockery between visits suggests harmful negative influences on him.

Please maintain our message thread rather than forking and creating new ones. Forking threads can misrepresent the context and chronology of our communication, which has happened a lot since this began. I don't think that is helpful to either of us when seeking helpful advice.

Looking forward to understanding a healthier way to address the points above, as they were not addressed in a constructive way.

robert

On 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimperleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know " Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 273 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 02:18 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

Here is my bank count info. I take back what I said. I was frustrated. Deduct whatever you need.

Account number 138134270432

Routing number

- Paper & Electronic 125000024

- Wires 026009593

I admit I am struggling, knowing you freely say you lied to me for 30 years. That is most of my life, and I have to start all over now. And I still can't get you to even work with me on rebuilding and being civil—even for the kid's sake.

I have asked every way I know how. I know you have a lot of anger, but you slept on the pillow next to me for 25 years and talked about growing old together. But every night was a lie. Our whole life was a lie. It's hard to ignore.

I still really wish we would get some help. This way has NOT worked—ever since 2023. Every day that passes under your plan makes it worse, and the only thing you do is double down. It's like you want to torment me at this stage.

I should know just to quit askingm but I feel like I have to at least try for the kid's sake.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

I am going to ask that you not start deducting things for me unilaterally. Please deposit the amount that I am owed and I will handle my financial affairs. You are not my accountant anymore. Thanks.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:36 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 10:49 AM)
Subject: Seahawks ticket sale
Attachments: IMG_2775.PNG (205 KB)

Tickets sold and received 444.23 after commission for last Seahawks game.

I'll deduct $100 for your share of the gardener and transfer the balance of 122.3 to you for your half.

Can you send me you BofA details?

Message 274 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 03:44 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Not sure why there was a 40 min delay.

Adrian was aware of today's visit.

You stated you would refrain from making jabs at me. They have continued.

On 12/28/2024 at 11:05 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep
Attachments: IMG_6961.PNG (300 KB)

This helps with context as it's been something I've tried to work with you on for quite a while. Thanks!

On 12/28/2024 at 10:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Christine,

I agree that professional guidance on addressing these situations is valuable. But I also note that your response feels threatening and almost like retaliation for raising several specific concerns about Adrian's well-being and our co-parenting communication. I asked you about:

- Today's 40-minute delay which impacts my limited time with Adrian and has significant financial implications at $1k a day.

- The portrayal to Adrian that I "won't reply" about visits misrepresents my efforts and damages my relationship with him.
- Emergency communication protocols are a standard safety consideration, and you allow for no way to accommodate them.
- The concerning shift in Adrian's view of MIT from pride to mockery between visits suggests harmful negative influences on him.

Please maintain our message thread rather than forking and creating new ones. Forking threads can misrepresent the context and chronology of our communication, which has happened a lot since this began. I don't think that is helpful to either of us when seeking helpful advice.

Looking forward to understanding a healthier way to address the points above, as they were not addressed in a constructive way.

robert

On 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimperleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know". Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 275 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

These comms are not to air grievances.

Yes if you can reimburse the costs from July for kids medical insurance and other costs that would be great too.

On 12/28/2024 at 02:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)

Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

Here is my bank count info. I take back what I said. I was frustrated. Deduct whatever you need.

Account number 138134270432

Routing number

- Paper & Electronic 125000024

- Wires 026009593

I admit I am struggling, knowing you freely say you lied to me for 30 years. That is most of my life, and I have to start all over now. And I still can't get you to even work with me on rebuilding and being civil—even for the kid's sake.

I have asked every way I know how. I know you have a lot of anger, but you slept on the pillow next to me for 25 years and talked about growing old together. But every night was a lie. Our whole life was a lie. It's hard to ignore.

I still really wish we would get some help. This way has NOT worked—ever since 2023. Every day that passes under your plan makes it worse, and the only thing you do is double down. It's like you want to torment me at this stage.

I should know just to quit askingm but I feel like I have to at least try for the kid's sake.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)

Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

I am going to ask that you not start deducting things for me unilaterally. Please deposit the amount that I am owed and I will handle my financial affairs. You are not my accountant anymore. Thanks.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:36 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 10:49 AM)

Subject: Seahawks ticket sale

Attachments: IMG_2775.PNG (205 KB)

Tickets sold and received 444.23 after commission for last Seahawks game.

I'll deduct $100 for your share of the gardener and transfer the balance of 122.3 to you for your half.

Can you send me you BofA details?

Message 276 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:00 PM)

Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I don't know what my jab was but if there was one, please point it out so I don't do it again and accept my apologies. The issues I noted below are real to me and I still don't see a response. I am frustrated that we can't work together after our last discussion. I sincerely hoped we would make peace.

On 12/28/2024 at 03:44 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Not sure why there was a 40 min delay.

Adrian was aware of today's visit.

You stated you would refrain from making jabs at me. They have continued.

On 12/28/2024 at 11:05 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep
Attachments: IMG_6961.PNG (300 KB)

This helps with context as it's been something I've tried to work with you on for quite a while. Thanks!

On 12/28/2024 at 10:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Christine,

I agree that professional guidance on addressing these situations is valuable. But I also note that your response feels threatening and almost like retaliation for raising several specific concerns about Adrian's well-being and our co-parenting communication. I asked you about:

- Today's 40-minute delay which impacts my limited time with Adrian and has significant financial implications at $1k a day.
- The portrayal to Adrian that I "won't reply" about visits misrepresents my efforts and damages my relationship with him.
- Emergency communication protocols are a standard safety consideration, and you allow for no way to accommodate them.
- The concerning shift in Adrian's view of MIT from pride to mockery between visits suggests harmful negative influences on him.

Please maintain our message thread rather than forking and creating new ones. Forking threads can misrepresent the context and chronology of our communication, which has happened a lot since this began. I don't think that is helpful to either of us when seeking helpful advice.

Looking forward to understanding a healthier way to address the points above, as they were not addressed in a constructive way.

robert

On 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimberleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know " Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 277 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

Christ

On 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

These comms are not to air grievances.

Yes if you can reimburse the costs from July for kids medical insurance.and other costs that would be great too.

On 12/28/2024 at 02:18 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)
Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

Here is my bank count info. I take back what I said. I was frustrated. Deduct whatever you need.

Account number 138134270432

Routing number

- Paper & Electronic 125000024
- Wires 026009593

I admit I am struggling, knowing you freely say you lied to me for 30 years. That is most of my life, and I have to start all over now. And I still can't get you to even work with me on rebuilding and being civil—even for the kid's sake.

I have asked every way I know how. I know you have a lot of anger, but you slept on the pillow next to me for 25 years and talked about growing old together. But every night was a lie. Our whole life was a lie. It's hard to ignore.

I still really wish we would get some help. This way has NOT worked—ever since 2023. Every day that passes under your plan makes it worse, and the only thing you do is double down. It's like you want to torment me at this stage.

I should know just to quit askingm but I feel like I have to at least try for the kid's sake.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:53 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Seahawks ticket sale

I am going to ask that you not start deducting things for me unilaterally. Please deposit the amount that I am owed and I will handle my financial affairs. You are not my accountant anymore. Thanks.

On 12/28/2024 at 10:36 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 10:49 AM)
Subject: Seahawks ticket sale
Attachments: IMG_2775.PNG (205 KB)

Tickets sold and received 444.23 after commission for last Seahawks game.

I'll deduct $100 for your share of the gardener and transfer the balance of 122.3 to you for your half.

Can you send me you BofA details?

Message 278 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 04:06 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:06 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Please share with your therapist and Cimberleigh and perhaps they can provide feedback directly.

I dont feel comfortable doing that directly with you.

In discussions with her she had not received Connor's report yet per pp. Has Luis?

On 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:00 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I don't know what my jab was but if there was one, please point it out so I don't do it again and accept my apologies. The issues I noted below are real to me and I still don't see a response. I am frustrated that we can't work together after our last discussion. I sincerely hoped we would make peace.

On 12/28/2024 at 03:44 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Not sure why there was a 40 min delay.

Adrian was aware of today's visit.

You stated you would refrain from making jabs at me. They have continued.

On 12/28/2024 at 11:05 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep
Attachments: IMG_6961.PNG (300 KB)

This helps with context as it's been something I've tried to work with you on for quite a while. Thanks!

On 12/28/2024 at 10:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Christine,

I agree that professional guidance on addressing these situations is valuable. But I also note that your response feels threatening and almost like retaliation for raising several specific concerns about Adrian's well-being and our co-parenting communication. I asked you about:

- Today's 40-minute delay which impacts my limited time with Adrian and has significant financial implications at $1k a day.
- The portrayal to Adrian that I "won't reply" about visits misrepresents my efforts and damages my relationship with him.
- Emergency communication protocols are a standard safety consideration, and you allow for no way to accommodate them.
- The concerning shift in Adrian's view of MIT from pride to mockery between visits suggests harmful negative influences on him.

Please maintain our message thread rather than forking and creating new ones. Forking threads can misrepresent the context and chronology of our communication, which has happened a lot since this began. I don't think that is helpful to either of us when seeking helpful advice.

Looking forward to understanding a healthier way to address the points above, as they were not addressed in a constructive way.

robert

On 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimberleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know " Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 279 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 04:20 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:21 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Stepping away. Thanks!

Have a nice weekend.

On 12/28/2024 at 04:06 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:06 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Please share with your therapist and Cimberleigh and perhaps they can provide feedback directly.

I dont feel comfortable doing that directly with you.

In discussions with her she had not received Connor's report yet per pp. Has Luis?

On 12/28/2024 at 03:50 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 04:00 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I don't know what my jab was but if there was one, please point it out so I don't do it again and accept my apologies. The issues I noted below are real to me and I still don't see a response. I am frustrated that we can't work together after our last discussion. I sincerely hoped we would make peace.

On 12/28/2024 at 03:44 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:45 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Not sure why there was a 40 min delay.

Adrian was aware of today's visit.

You stated you would refrain from making jabs at me. They have continued.

On 12/28/2024 at 11:05 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 03:32 PM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep
Attachments: IMG_6961.PNG (300 KB)

This helps with context as it's been something I've tried to work with you on for quite a while. Thanks!

On 12/28/2024 at 10:48 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Christine,

I agree that professional guidance on addressing these situations is valuable. But I also note that your response feels threatening and almost like retaliation for raising several specific concerns about Adrian's well-being and our co-parenting communication. I asked you about:

- Today's 40-minute delay which impacts my limited time with Adrian and has significant financial implications at $1k a day.
- The portrayal to Adrian that I "won't reply" about visits misrepresents my efforts and damages my relationship with him.
- Emergency communication protocols are a standard safety consideration, and you allow for no way to accommodate them.
- The concerning shift in Adrian's view of MIT from pride to mockery between visits suggests harmful negative influences on him.

Please maintain our message thread rather than forking and creating new ones. Forking threads can misrepresent the context and chronology of our communication, which has happened a lot since this began. I don't think that is helpful to either of us when seeking helpful advice.

Looking forward to understanding a healthier way to address the points above, as they were not addressed in a constructive way.

robert

On 12/28/2024 at 09:45 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:49 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

I'll send this to Cimperleigh. She asked I share these types of comms.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:39 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 09:41 AM)
Subject: Re: AD is asleep

Is he still coming over today?

For that matter, if they are in a car wreck getting here, what is your and Natalie's plan for us to communicate and figure that out? Is it just wait till we both know they are missing AND you check OFW? Curious.

On 12/28/2024 at 09:01 AM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: AD is asleep

Does he know he's coming over?

Last Thursday he said he was not sure to me and Alan. I said it was "a regular day so count on it". To which he replied "I know but Mom said you won't reply so we don't know " Let's work on that. It's not really fair to couch me that way.

Also not sure where he got the idea that MIT was like Phoenix university but that happened between his visits. He started proud and then was kinda teasing me next time. Admission was super tough and the classes are really hard.

Maybe these things are beyond your control but bringing it up so you know I don't think it's good for him to look at me like some kind of clown. I know you replaced me on July 4th, but he can't so let's make the best of it for him.

Message 280 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 05:55 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 07:55 PM)
Subject: Thursday

Is there a reason I can't see Adrian longer on Thursday since he is out of school? It seems like a particularly good time to take advantage of the schedule. Please let me know what the issue is. Thanks.

Message 281 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Thursday

The schedule is for kids to be with me this entire winter break.

This Saturday and next Thursday are actually not part of the schedule.

Your continued angry and aggressive tone with me over these comms is scary.

I'm stepping away.

On 12/28/2024 at 05:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 07:55 PM)
Subject: Thursday

Is there a reason I can't see Adrian longer on Thursday since he is out of school? It seems like a particularly good time to take advantage of the schedule. Please let me know what the issue is. Thanks.

Message 282 of 287

Sent: 12/28/2024 at 08:02 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:18 AM)
Subject: Re: Thursday

So for the holiday I got less time than the regular schedule? How does that work? I banked Friday, so why don't I use some of that time? Please stop making things up. It's gone on for 26 years.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM)
Subject: Re: Thursday

The schedule is for kids to be with me this entire winter break.

This Saturday and next Thursday are actually not part of the schedule.

Your continued angry and aggressive tone with me over these comms is scary.

I'm stepping away.

On 12/28/2024 at 05:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 07:55 PM)
Subject: Thursday

Is there a reason I can't see Adrian longer on Thursday since he is out of school? It seems like a particularly good time to take advantage of the schedule. Please let me know what the issue is. Thanks.

Message 283 of 287

Sent: 12/29/2024 at 07:22 AM
From: Christine Moyer
To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:35 AM)
Subject: Re: Thursday

I'm done with your aggression.

You have been in violation of the requirements for sober link in the parenting plan which means visitations stop until court order.

Holiday schedule is also dictated by the parenting plan.

I am stopping all communication in OFW and will wait for comms between the lawyers.

The parenting plan and restraining order are signed and in effect.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:18 AM)

Subject: Re: Thursday

So for the holiday I got less time than the regular schedule? How does that work? I banked Friday, so why don't I use some of that time? Please stop making things up. It's gone on for 26 years.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Thursday

The schedule is for kids to be with me this entire winter break.

This Saturday and next Thursday are actually not part of the schedule.

Your continued angry and aggressive tone with me over these comms is scary.

I'm stepping away.

On 12/28/2024 at 05:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 07:55 PM)

Subject: Thursday

Is there a reason I can't see Adrian longer on Thursday since he is out of school? It seems like a particularly good time to take advantage of the schedule. Please let me know what the issue is. Thanks.

Message 284 of 287

Sent: 12/29/2024 at 07:24 AM

From: Christine Moyer

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:35 AM)

Subject: Equalization

Reminder that equalization payment is coming due.

Message 285 of 287

Sent: 12/29/2024 at 11:59 AM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/30/2024 at 10:15 AM)

Subject: Re: Thursday

Can I propose that we follow through on our Dec 19th agreement and work through this as discussed. I think it will be better for everyone involved and will give us a holiday win. Thanks!

On 12/29/2024 at 07:22 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:35 AM)

Subject: Re: Thursday

I'm done with your aggression.

You have been in violation of the requirements for sober link in the parenting plan which means visitations stop until court order.

Holiday schedule is also dictated by the parenting plan.

I am stopping all communication in OFW and will wait for comms between the lawyers.

The parenting plan and restraining order are signed and in effect.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:02 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:18 AM)

Subject: Re: Thursday

So for the holiday I got less time than the regular schedule? How does that work? I banked Friday, so why don't I use some of that time? Please stop making things up. It's gone on for 26 years.

On 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 08:00 PM)

Subject: Re: Thursday

The schedule is for kids to be with me this entire winter break.

This Saturday and next Thursday are actually not part of the schedule.

Your continued angry and aggressive tone with me over these comms is scary.

I'm stepping away.

On 12/28/2024 at 05:55 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/28/2024 at 07:55 PM)

Subject: Thursday

Is there a reason I can't see Adrian longer on Thursday since he is out of school? It seems like a particularly good time to take advantage of the schedule. Please let me know what the issue is. Thanks.

Message 286 of 287

Sent: 12/29/2024 at 12:43 PM

From: Robert Moyer

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/30/2024 at 10:15 AM)

Subject: Re: Equalization

Super! Thanks. I have been planning. I wonder if it is quicker to pay cash from one Fidelity account straight to another? That would make sense right? Wanna try that? Open to whatever but that may be best.

btw- I really don't want to fight with you...

On 12/29/2024 at 07:24 AM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/29/2024 at 07:35 AM)
Subject: Equalization

Reminder that equalization payment is coming due.

Message 287 of 287

Sent: 12/30/2024 at 07:14 PM
From: Robert Moyer
To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: Never)
Subject: Re: Drop Off

per below- tomorrow is the last night of the year and I have not bothered you at all about it.

Can I please make reservations for a bolognese at Volterra and let's bury the hatchet going forward? I promise to have you home early. I've been asking for more than a year so please don't find another excuse for the status quo. It just does not work. Can we do this for the kids (and us?)

thanks!

On 12/10/2024 at 07:59 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/11/2024 at 12:26 PM)
Subject: Re: Drop Off

I understand. I'll take a raincheck.

But please let's really do it this year.

On 12/10/2024 at 05:49 PM, Christine Moyer wrote:

To: Robert Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 07:56 PM)
Subject: Re: Drop Off

I was in all day training, at driving school now with another meeting this evening.

On 12/10/2024 at 12:16 PM, Robert Moyer wrote:

To: Christine Moyer (First Viewed: 12/10/2024 at 05:48 PM)
Subject: Drop Off

May I swing by to drop off a card after lunch?

Maybe buy you a tea let's turn the page!